An Unhappy "Dry."
Did "Fate" Get Him?
Edsel Ford Predicts.
Honor the Automobile.

By ARTHUR BRISBANE.

(The opinions expressed in this column are strictly those of Mr. Brisbane and not necessarily in consonance with the policies of The Review-Tribune).

Senator Ferris, a sincere "dry," as dry as the desert of Sahara, or the inside of Jonah's whale, says prohibition is a failure.

"Lawmakers lead in violating the law," he says, shocked to hear other senators boasting and laughing about violating the Constitution that they have sworn to uphold.

Senator Ferris thinks prohibition can still "succeed," if enforcement can be taken out of politics.

But that can't be done, and if it could be done, would it make any difference?

If men, in secret, can change one dollar's worth of good corn into 25 dollars worth of poisonous whisky, at no expense, can you stop bootlegging?

There were fewer than 500 distilleries in the country before prohibition became the law. Since then 34,000 distilleries have been seized. And, for every one seized two have been started. Prohibition was made law by men who violate it, never had any intention of obeying the law or respecting the Constitution. How can you expect the great professional bootleg criminal class, created by prohibition not to follow an example set in the highest places?

Begin at the top. You find that we have had three presidents under prohibition, and Calvin Coolidge is the first of them to drink only water, plus tea, buttermilk, gingfer ale and the other moral concoctions, of course.

Every servant of a great club in Washington knew that a president of the United States had in the club his locker supplied with whisky and openly passed the beverage around among his friends, and transported it through the streets of the ciapital in violation of law and contempt of the Constitution.

Can you expect those club servants to take the prohibition amendment seriously? Do you think they should be put in jail for doing what they have seen done by the president and a dozen senators, with laughter, and joking as to the merits of bootleggers and the quality of their supplies.

When law and the Constitution are despised by those in power, don't expect to find respect for law or Constitution lower down in the scale.

And, when men that make the laws decide that they may properly violate one law that does not suit them, you may be sure that a new and great body of criminals will arise to defy laws concerning property that they don't like. And, that is exactly what has happened in America.

What is to be done? That is for the lawmakers to say. The people, as you know, have little to say in such cases. They did not even vote on prohibition when it was passed by earnest, sincere men, with the emotion and power of war back of them.

Oscar Palmquist went down with the Titanic. But he came back to the surface, swam for hours in the icy waters, and lived until March 23 last.

His body was found in a shallow pond in Connecticut. He had wandered into the pond and drowned.

That will cause solemn moralizing. "If you're born to be drowned, you'll never be hanged and vice versa," some will say, "swim as hard as you like, the water will get you."

The Turks and millions of other orientals, deeply religious and repentitious will assure you that the day of your death was fixed millions of years before you were born. God knows exactly when you will die and how. Therefore, the hour and manner must have been fixed and manner must have been fixed from all eternity, otherwise God could not know. And, to doubt that he knows all things ahead is impious.

Cold common sense, however, says that Palmquist would not have been drowned had he not wandered into the pond, and would have been drowned when the Titanic sank, had he not been a strong swimmer. This would

THEODORE APPLEGATE, POTTER, DECAPITATED BY Y. & O. TRACTION CAR

Man, Believed to Have Fallen Asleep on Track, is Killed Sunday Morning at "Stone Wall" Stop on Claiborne Avenue, When Motorman Fails to See Him.

DENSE FOG IS PARTLY RESPONSIBLE; "ACCIDENTAL DEATH" CORONER RULES

Harold Cronin, Brother-in-law, Identifies Body by Clothing and Ring Worn by Victim After he is Called to Morgue — $40 Which Man Had is Missing.

Theodore Applegate, 23, pottery worker, of Columbia avenue, was instantly killed when struck by a southbound Youngstown & Ohio River interurban car at the "Stone Wall" stop on Claiborne avenue, at 7:15 o'clock Spnday morning. His head was severed from his body.

Coroner J. M. Van Fossan, East Palestine, following an inquest Sunday afternoon, returned a verdict of "death by electric street car accident."

The supposition is that young Applegate was waiting for a Y. & O. car at the "Stone Wall" stop and fell asleep on the tracks early Sunday morning, his head resting on one of the rails and his body lying outside the tracks. Motorman Paul Farmer, in charge of the car—the first car due in East Liverpool on Sunday morning—said that he failed to see the man until within a few feet of him because of a heavy fog. He applied his brakes and reversed his power, but was unable to stop the car until both the front and rear trucks had passed over Applegate's head. Applegate's features were crushed beyond recognition.

Seek Victim's Companions.

Conductor Benjamin Miller, Leetonia, notified the Miller undertaking establishment of the tragedy immediately upon the arrival of the car in the Diamond and an ambulance was sent to bring the body to the morgue.

Nothing was found in the victim's clothes which would serve to identify him. He was recognized by Clarence E. West at 10:30 o'clock Sunday morning, and West immediately notified his brother-in-law, Harold Cronin. Cronin identifed the young man by his clothing and also by a ring which he wore.

According to Cronin, Applegate had about $40 in his possession when he left his home Saturday afternoon, and when his body was found Sunday morning he was without a penny. An effort is being made by the young man's father, William Applegate, of Erie street, and other relatives to locate friends of the victim who might have been with him Saturday night.

Funeral Services Tuesday.

Applegate left the home of his sister, Mrs. Harold Cronin, Columbia avenue, where he has resided for the last three years, at noon Saturday, stating that he was going to East End

Both Sides Claim Victory in Mimic War Off Honolulu

HONOLULU, April 27.—The gigantic maneuvers of the American Army-Navy off Honolulu reached their height today.

Both sides claimed victory as the "Blue" fleet assaulted Oahu island on which it located the great naval base, Pearl Harbor, and the "Black" forces maintained a stiff defense.

Activities today, the second day of the maneuvers, were marked by increased air forces and light naval equipment on both sides.

C. of C. Directors Take Stand on Taxation Issues

Directors of the chamber of commerce favor the recommendations made by a committee from the United States Chamber of Commerce, relative to inheritance taxes and co-ordination of national and state taxation.

The proposition, offered in the form of a referendum, in which every chamber of commerce in the United States will express its opinion, is under three heads. The first recommendation is that the federal government should refrain from imposing estate or inheritance taxes; second, that the estate tax now levied by the federal government should be repealed and third, that there should be an organization of representatives of the states and of the federal government to coordinate national and state systems of taxation.

Another referendum, covering the advisory committee's report on the powers of national banks, submitted by the United States chamber, is in the hands of the local chamber, but will not be voted upon until the merits of the question at issue have been investigated.

WOOSTER WOMAN CHARGED WITH KILLING BABY IS HELD SANE

State Bureau Rules Mrs. Blanche Tobias Must Face Court.

STRANGLED TOT

Prisoner, However, Has Subnormal Mentality, is Decision.

WOOSTER, O., April 27.—Mrs. Blanche Tobias will be placed on trial for murder in the second degree following her return here from Columbus, Assistant Prosecutor Walter J. Mougey stated today.

"The time of her trial will depend upon other court assignments," Moughey said, but added that it probably would be within a month.

Mrs. Tobias was indicted for murder in the first degree in connection with the strangling of her infant babe, "because it wouldn't have a chance." The charge was reduced to second degree murder by Prosecutor J. O. Fritz, in order to simplify the empaneling of a jury.

COLUMBUS, April 27.—That Mrs. Blanche Tobias, Wayne county, under indictment on the charge of strangling to death her six weeks' old baby, is sane is the decision announced here today. The statement was made by officials of the state bureau of juvenile research in whose custody Mrs. Tobias has been for a number of weeks. She is to be returned to Wayne county this week and will again be placed in charge of county authorities there, it was announced.

Mrs. Tobias' mental condition has been under close observation by state officials in pursuance of instructions issued by Judge Starr, Wooster. It was stated that officials of the bureau will report to Judge Starr that, although she has a subnormal mentality, Mrs. Togias is not insane.

FARMER SLAIN; FRIEND ACCUSED

CHARDON, April 27.—Six months ago Joseph Morgan, 71, and Julius Franleigh, 66, were neighbors and friends. Today Morgan is held in the Geauga county jail charged with the murder of Franleigh, and the latter's body has been found with a bullet in his spine and another in his heart.

The quarrel over a property line which severed the aged men's friendship last November culminated Sunday afternoon in a rough and tumble fight in a road near their home, during which Morgan is alleged to have shot Franleigh. Morgan was arrested shortly afterwards as he wandered, dazed, along a railroad track five blocks from the scene. His body was covered with bruises, authorities say.

Several times during the quarrel, witnesses say, Franleigh, who was the larger of the two, struck Morgan with a club.

Crabbe Declines Donahey Request in Gas Rate Fight

COLUMBUS, April 27.—Attorney General Crabbe today declined the request made by Governor Donahey that attorney general provide counsel to defend the interests of Ohio municipalities in proceedings pending before the state Utilities commission relative to the application of the Logan Gas company for permission to increase gas rates.

The attorney general, in a written reply to the governor, explained that his attitude in this matter is due to the fact that the law decrees the attorney general is council for the commission. Crabbe interpreted the law as barring him from taking sides in a controversy involved in a case considered by the commission.

The car, badly wrecked, was towed to a Lisbon garage.

Harry Morris of Lisbon suffered three ribs fractured when the steering gear of an automobile buckled, causing the car to overturn in a ditch on the Columbiana-Lisbon road Sunday morning. Promise Improved Radio Reception In Hot Weather

WASHINGTON, April 27.— Hot weather radio reception is expected to be vastly improved by a tendency of many broadcasting stations throughout the country to employ stronger power to get their programs "over."

The Department of Commerce announced today that five stations are already using 2,000 watts, eight stations 1,500 watts, and 12 1,000 watts, giving them a summer range probably greater than 500 watts in cold weather.

These are: WEAF, New York; KGO, Oakland, Cal.; KFI, Los Angeles; KOA, Denver, Col.; WLW, Cincinnati.

These powerful stations are sufficiently scattered to give operators of tube sets in any locality good results throughout the summer, in the opinion of government experts.

EUROPE SHOCKED AS GERMANY ELECTS HINDENBURG, AVOWED MILITARIST, AS PRESIDENT; CONCERN FELT FOR DAWES PLAN

BY S. D. WEYER.

BERLIN, April 27.—One half of Germany was dismayed today and the other half was enthusiastically gleeful over the victory which General Paul Von Hindenburg won at the polls yesterday and which makes him president of the republic.

Hindenburg's plurality stood at something over 900,000 in the official tally at noon today.

The official figurges were::

Hindenburg, 14,639,399; Marx, 13,752,244; Thaelmann, 1,931,593; other candidates 21,910.

Hindenburg's election was, in the opinion of all political observers a victory for the monarchy, although they emphasized that the possibility of Germany returning the former Kaiser Wilhelm to power was remote.

Communist Polls Big Vote.

The big vote polled by the Communist candidate, Ernst Thaelmann—once a resident of the United States—was a big surprise. It was the contention, or defense, of the supporters of Dr. Carl Marx, the defeated Republican, that the Communist vote was what brought about the victory of Hindenburg. The Marx froces had believed the Communist vote would go to Marx, and if it had, the 900,000 plurality of Hindenburg would have been cut down to a point where Marx would have been the victor.

Now that Hindenburg, an avowed militarist, the Marx forces declare, is elected to the presidency, Germany has turned its attention to the one great question which is in the minds of everybody:

"What will France do?"

The Marx followers made no attempt to deny that they believed that the revival of Hindenburg also meant the revival of the time honored "goose-step" and other allurements of German militarism. The Hindenburg supporters said his election meant only a greater regard for the progress of Germany through more definite negotiations with the Allies.

Hindenburg is expected to take office about May 15. It will be that time before all of the official documents and attendant details of the election are completed, it was said. The present cabinet will within a few days offer its resignation to Hindenburg and he will ask it to remain in office for the time being, it was said.

Hindenburg received the news at the estate of a friend near Luneburg. He will come to Berlin Thursday and prepare to take office, his friends said.

Elaborate preparations were being made in Berlin for a triumphal entry of the former field marshal, but it was said that Hindenburg would discourage such ostentation and come quietly, and, if possible, unnoticed into the city.

If the present plans go through, Hindenburg will take the oath of office in the reichstag May 5. The term is for seven years.

Labor Supports Victor.

A feature of the big vote Hindenburg polled, and somewhat of a surprise, was that cast for him in the labor and industrial centers.

The Nationalist newspapers warned the Nationalists against a "premature jubilee." They said "the work of recovery was only begun."

The Democratic papers were trying to appear good losers. They said "sentimentality won over political sense." The Tageblatt laid Hindenburg's victory to "the unshakeble popularity of the former field marshal and the Communist hatred of the Socialists." The Rote Fahne, freely translated red flag—said "the victory was due to the Socialists' treason." The Deuzeitung quoted Hindenburg's words:

"My two hands for the fatherland, and they may be hacked off, but nothing for the parties." The paper added its own comment:

"God did not forsake Germany this time."

Hindenburg Triumph Causes Confusion.

LONDON, April 27.—European politics have been thrown into the greatest confusion by the election of General Paul Von Hindenburg as president of the German Republic, diplomatic circles agreed today.

Great Britain was shocked and baffled by the Hindenburg triumph in some quarters concern was felt for the Dawes plan through which the Allies are collecting from Germany reparations for the great war.

It would be easy, political observers emphasized, for Germany to sabotage the Dawes plan through one subterfuge or another. The easiest method

"I Will Not Take Orders From Any Party"—Hindenburg

LUNEBURG, Germany, April 27.—"I will not take orders from any party, and no one need think I will," declared President-elect Paul Von Hindenburg today in commenting on his election.

"I am willing to grasp the hand of any German, including my former opponents, and I will grasp it heartily and without reserve in the common work for the good of our country."

C. of C. Directors Take Stand on Taxation Issues

Directors of the chamber of commerce favor the recommendations made by a committee from the United States Chamber of Commerce, relative to inheritance taxes and co-ordination of national and state taxation.

The proposition, offered in the form of a referendum, in which every chamber of commerce in the United States will express its opinion, is under three heads. The first recommendation is that the federal government should refrain from imposing estate or inheritance taxes; second, that the estate tax now levied by the federal government should be repealed and third, that there should be an organization of representatives of the states and of the federal government to coordinate national and state systems of taxation.

Another referendum, covering the advisory committee's report on the powers of national banks, submitted by the United States chamber, is in the hands of the local chamber, but will not be voted upon until the merits of the question at issue have been investigated.

WOOSTER WOMAN CHARGED WITH KILLING BABY IS HELD SANE

State Bureau Rules Mrs. Blanche Tobias Must Face Court.

STRANGLED TOT

Prisoner, However, Has Subnormal Mentality, is Decision.

WOOSTER, O., April 27.—Mrs. Blanche Tobias will be placed on trial for murder in the second degree following her return here from Columbus, Assistant Prosecutor Walter J. Mougey stated today.

"The time of her trial will depend upon other court assignments," Moughey said, but added that it probably would be within a month.

Mrs. Tobias was indicted for murder in the first degree in connection with the strangling of her infant babe, "because it wouldn't have a chance." The charge was reduced to second degree murder by Prosecutor J. O. Fritz, in order to simplify the empaneling of a jury.

COLUMBUS, April 27.—That Mrs. Blanche Tobias, Wayne county, under indictment on the charge of strangling to death her six weeks' old baby, is sane is the decision announced here today. The statement was made by officials of the state bureau of juvenile research in whose custody Mrs. Tobias has been for a number of weeks. She is to be returned to Wayne county this week and will again be placed in charge of county authorities there, it was announced.

Mrs. Tobias' mental condition has been under close observation by state officials in pursuance of instructions issued by Judge Starr, Wooster. It was stated that officials of the bureau will report to Judge Starr that, although she has a subnormal mentality, Mrs. Togias is not insane.

FARMER SLAIN; FRIEND ACCUSED

CHARDON, April 27.—Six months ago Joseph Morgan, 71, and Julius Franleigh, 66, were neighbors and friends. Today Morgan is held in the Geauga county jail charged with the murder of Franleigh, and the latter's body has been found with a bullet in his spine and another in his heart.

The quarrel over a property line which severed the aged men's friendship last November culminated Sunday afternoon in a rough and tumble fight in a road near their home, during which Morgan is alleged to have shot Franleigh. Morgan was arrested shortly afterwards as he wandered, dazed, along a railroad track five blocks from the scene. His body was covered with bruises, authorities say.

Several times during the quarrel, witnesses say, Franleigh, who was the larger of the two, struck Morgan with a club.

Crabbe Declines Donahey Request in Gas Rate Fight

COLUMBUS, April 27.—Attorney General Crabbe today declined the request made by Governor Donahey that attorney general provide counsel to defend the interests of Ohio municipalities in proceedings pending before the state Utilities commission relative to the application of the Logan Gas company for permission to increase gas rates.

The attorney general, in a written reply to the governor, explained that his attitude in this matter is due to the fact that the law decrees the attorney general is council for the commission. Crabbe interpreted the law as barring him from taking sides in a controversy involved in a case considered by the commission.

Promise Improved Radio Reception In Hot Weather

WASHINGTON, April 27.— Hot weather radio reception is expected to be vastly improved by a tendency of many broadcasting stations throughout the country to employ stronger power to get their programs "over."

The Department of Commerce announced today that five stations are already using 2,000 watts, eight stations 1,500 watts, and 12 1,000 watts, giving them a summer range probably greater than 500 watts in cold weather.

These are: WEAF, New York; KGO, Oakland, Cal.; KFI, Los Angeles; KOA, Denver, Col.; WLW, Cincinnati.

These powerful stations are sufficiently scattered to give operators of tube sets in any locality good results throughout the summer, in the opinion of government experts.

EUROPE SHOCKED AS GERMANY ELECTS HINDENBURG, AVOWED MILITARIST, AS PRESIDENT; CONCERN FELT FOR DAWES PLAN

BY S. D. WEYER.

BERLIN, April 27.—One half of Germany was dismayed today and the other half was enthusiastically gleeful over the victory which General Paul Von Hindenburg won at the polls yesterday and which makes him president of the republic.

Hindenburg's plurality stood at something over 900,000 in the official tally at noon today.

The official figurges were::

Hindenburg, 14,639,399; Marx, 13,752,244; Thaelmann, 1,931,593; other candidates 21,910.

Hindenburg's election was, in the opinion of all political observers a victory for the monarchy, although they emphasized that the possibility of Germany returning the former Kaiser Wilhelm to power was remote.

Communist Polls Big Vote.

The big vote polled by the Communist candidate, Ernst Thaelmann—once a resident of the United States—was a big surprise. It was the contention, or defense, of the supporters of Dr. Carl Marx, the defeated Republican, that the Communist vote was what brought about the victory of Hindenburg. The Marx froces had believed the Communist vote would go to Marx, and if it had, the 900,000 plurality of Hindenburg would have been cut down to a point where Marx would have been the victor.

Now that Hindenburg, an avowed militarist, the Marx forces declare, is elected to the presidency, Germany has turned its attention to the one great question which is in the minds of everybody:

"What will France do?"

The Marx followers made no attempt to deny that they believed that the revival of Hindenburg also meant the revival of the time honored "goose-step" and other allurements of German militarism. The Hindenburg supporters said his election meant only a greater regard for the progress of Germany through more definite negotiations with the Allies.

Hindenburg is expected to take office about May 15. It will be that time before all of the official documents and attendant details of the election are completed, it was said. The present cabinet will within a few days offer its resignation to Hindenburg and he will ask it to remain in office for the time being, it was said.

Hindenburg received the news at the estate of a friend near Luneburg. He will come to Berlin Thursday and prepare to take office, his friends said.

Elaborate preparations were being made in Berlin for a triumphal entry of the former field marshal, but it was said that Hindenburg would discourage such ostentation and come quietly, and, if possible, unnoticed into the city.

If the present plans go through, Hindenburg will take the oath of office in the reichstag May 5. The term is for seven years.

Labor Supports Victor.

A feature of the big vote Hindenburg polled, and somewhat of a surprise, was that cast for him in the labor and industrial centers.

The Nationalist newspapers warned the Nationalists against a "premature jubilee." They said "the work of recovery was only begun."

The Democratic papers were trying to appear good losers. They said "sentimentality won over political sense." The Tageblatt laid Hindenburg's victory to "the unshakeble popularity of the former field marshal and the Communist hatred of the Socialists." The Rote Fahne, freely translated red flag—said "the victory was due to the Socialists' treason." The Deuzeitung quoted Hindenburg's words:

"My two hands for the fatherland, and they may be hacked off, but nothing for the parties." The paper added its own comment:

"God did not forsake Germany this time."

Hindenburg Triumph Causes Confusion.

LONDON, April 27.—European politics have been thrown into the greatest confusion by the election of General Paul Von Hindenburg as president of the German Republic, diplomatic circles agreed today.

Great Britain was shocked and baffled by the Hindenburg triumph in some quarters concern was felt for the Dawes plan through which the Allies are collecting from Germany reparations for the great war.

It would be easy, political observers emphasized, for Germany to sabotage the Dawes plan through one subterfuge or another. The easiest method

"I Will Not Take Orders From Any Party"—Hindenburg

LUNEBURG, Germany, April 27.—"I will not take orders from any party, and no one need think I will," declared President-elect Paul Von Hindenburg today in commenting on his election.

"I am willing to grasp the hand of any German, including my former opponents, and I will grasp it heartily and without reserve in the common work for the good of our country."

he too dull if everything were fixed for us in advance. And if, as the Turks believe, all is settled in advance and Allam and Mohammed, between them, know everything, each man's fate and destination after death, must be settled in advance. In that case, why struggle to reach Mohammed's paradise? Struggling would not do any good, if you're stentenced before you're born.

Edsel Ford, writing in The Nation's Business, published by the United States chamber of commerce, forsees a production of aircraft for all the people on a scale comparable with the present automobile production.

Speaking for himself and his father, Henry Ford, Ford discusses "air sedans" and cheap flying cars within the people's reach.

These predictions are encouraging. It is not the habit of the Fords to predict unless they know, or to indulge in vague surmises.

If Henry Ford and Edsel Ford predict a sky full of airplanes, they will manage to provide those airplanes.

This writer, some weeks ago saw the first all-metal Ford plane, in the Ford factory, shining like silver, light as paper, strong as steel, made of duralumin, 95 per cent aluminum, four per cent copper, two per cent of other alloy. That machine is now flying and impervious to the weather it can be left out of doors, anchored to the ground, no hangar necessary.

It will carry 12 passengers or a ton of freight. And, in two hours it can be changed to a bomb dropping machine, should foolish foreigners come to disturb its peaceful uses.

A short time, and our airplane problem will be solved. Thanks for that.

On motoring tours, throughout the United States, seeing America first, and seeing America in the most comfortable, satisfactory way, Americans will spend this year $2,500,000,000.

DROPS WHISKY, MAKES GETAWAY

Constable Wherry Loses Race Against Automobile.

Constable F. P. Wherry today was on the look-out for a man suspected of transporting liquor, who eluded arrest after a long chase early last evening.

Wherry received a call from a party living near the East End car barns at 5 o'clock Sunday evening, asking that he investigate the strange actions of two men who had stopped at a home back of the car barns.

As Wherry approached the house, he noticed a man seated in an automobile. When the stranger say Wherry, he is said to have thrown a pint bottle of corn whisky from the car to the road, but the bottle failed to break. While the constable was recovering the bottle, the man in the car drove away. Wherry gave chase, but the motorist was soon lost to view.

Europe Shocked

would be for Germany to hold that the increasing demands of France were not possible of fulfillment.

France, England expects, will in all likelihood refuse longer to accept Germany's promise that it will remain on a peace footing. France, it was said, probably will ask for specific guarantees for its security.

Diplomats are looking to Great Britain to become mediator between the two traditional enemies. Diplomats said they were apprehensive, however, that Poland and Ccecho-Slovakia would be drawn into the political maelstrom which would make it exceedingly difficult for England to remain in a strictly neutral position.

London Not Alarmed.

The British foreign office comment on the Hindenburg election was:

"The closeness of the vote in Germany shows the country is fairly evenly divided. It is unlikely Hindenburg will attempt any steps of a radical nature.

"It is the view of British experts that the same sentiments which elected President Coolidge and Baldwin (premier of England)—also elected Hindenburg.

"The foreign office does not believe the Dawes' plan or the security pact will be affected."

France's Attitude.

PARIS, April 27.—So far as France is concerned Former Field Marshal Von Hindenburg still is "war prisoner number 237," the French foreign office pointed out today in commenting on Hindenburg's victory in the German presidential election.

The foreign office said it "did not intend to take any action whatsoever," but under the Versailles treaty Hindenburg still must remain as listed there.

The foreign office considers Hindenburg's election "reveals the real spirit of Germany and facilitates France's task" and that France "can now count on the aid of England and America to carry out rigorous disarmament and other clauses of the Versailles treaty."

The election, the foreign office asserted, also will greatly aid the ambassadors' council in reaching a decision this week. The council has before it the report of the military control claim which is said to show that Germany has not returned to a full peace basis.

Mixed Emotions in Washington.

WASHINGTON, April 27.—News of the election of Field Marshal Hindenburg to the presidency of Germany was received in Washington with mixed emotions and widely varying opinions today as to the result it will have on world conditions.

It cannot be said that the American government is either pleased or displeased with the outcome of the German election—rather, from the vantage point of 3,500 miles away, it is merely "interested" and somewhat apprehensive over the political developments that are likely to follow within the next six months.

Chief concern is felt here over two aspects of the Von Hindenburg victory (1) the probable effect it will have on Germany's continuing to carry out the Dawes plan, and (2) whether the election of the kaiser's right hand man can be regarded as the first step toward the restoration of the monarchy. Officials said today that time will have to answer both questions.

Borah Is Not Alarmed.

Senator William E. Borah, of Idaho, chairman of the senate foreign relations committee, and perhaps the closest observer of European conditions in Washington, was among those who professed to see no cause for alarm in the Nationalist victory.

"I don't think Von Hindenburg's election needs be regarded as necessarily disturbing," he said.

"There probably will be a recrudence of the Nationalistic spirit in Germany, but if this is directed along the right lines it will be helpful. I believe it will be directed along the right lines.

"There is going to be a lot of talk about Germany arming and getting ready for another war. I do not believe there will be anything of the sort. Germany is disarmed. She could not arm if she wanted to, and I don't believe she wants to. I expect to see a strong effort on the part of Germany to retain her national integrity, both territorially and economically, and I for one hope she may."

The world in general, and Europe in particular, will be better off, Borah believes, with strong, stable Germany, than with a weak and chaotic Germany.

"I think," he continued, "that the world had better proceed on the theory that the German people have the right to elect the man they want."

J. C. Hanley Named To Aid in Revision Of Election Laws

COLUMBUS, April 27.—First meeting of the special legislative committee charged with revision and codification of state election laws will be held here May 6, secretary of state, Thad H. Brown, announced today. The committee is expected to organize and to discuss policies.

Brown said he expected the committee would seek largely to effect economies in Ohio elections and to weed out discrepancies in the present laws. The question of permanent registration is expected to be discussed.

The secretary of state, as the chief election law enforcing officer, is expected to be named chairman of the committee. Brown's appointments to the committee are: J. C. Hanley, former prosecuting attorney, East Liverpool; H. A. Hirstius, clerk of the board of elections, Cleveland; Ray J. Hillenbrand, member of the board of elections, Cincinnati.

REPORTS FROM STOCK MARKET

NEW YORK, April 27.—Heaviness and reactionary price movements dominated the stock market in the early trading today. Stocks were pressed for sale in every department of the market, some of the leading industrial and motor shares declining 1 to 2 points in the first period, and only in exceptional cases were stocks strong enough to move against the trend. Declines were heaviest in industrial stocks which moved forward in last week's trading, and in specialty stocks like Commercial Sovents, which displayed conspicuous weakness in recent sessions.

Wall Street's attention was rivited on European developments, the most important of which was election of Von Hindenburg as president of Germany. Bearish traders made this the occasion for the offering of industrial speculative stocks, for which there was not a brick demand. The new German seven per cent. bonds, recently introduced to this market at 92 and which sold as high as 95¼ and closed Saturday at 93½, were also sold heavily and declined 2 points to 91⅝.

BAN AUTO TAG PRICE CUTTING

J. S. Hilbert Receives Instructions From State Official.

Automobile owners, who have not obtained their 1925 license plates, must pay the full year's rate for the balance of the present year.

James S. Hilbert, deputy automobile registrar, today was advised by Clamers Wilson, Columbus, registrar of automobiles, to charge the full year's rate for all pleasure car licenses. This is in keeping with the provisions of House Bill No. 44, enacted by the legislature recently which imposes a tax of two cents per gallon on gasoline. This order affects all motor driven vehicles except commercial machines.

Since the first of April, license plates have been costing 75 per cent of the original fee. The new ruling will not affect license owners who have already purchased their plates at the 25 per cent reduction rate.

Effective January 1, 1926, license plates will be reduced to one half of the present rate.

Armed Posse Tracks Ex-Convict Who Kidnaps 11-Year-Old Girl

"Dead or Alive Instructions Given as 100 Men Search Vermont Mountains for Man and Child.

GRANTVILLE, Vt., April 27.—A posse of 100 armed men, searching for Earl Woodward, 27, ex-convict, and Lucille Chatterton, 11, whom he kidnaped, hurried to the east side of Braintree mountain today when word was received that Woodward and the child had been seen leaving an abandoned farm on the mountain side.

Bring Woodward in "dead or alive" was the instructions given by the sheriff.

Woodward entered the woods armed and provisioned for a two weeks stay.

The young ex-convict was befriended by the man whose daughter he stole.

Deserting from the navy during World war, Woodward came to the hills here and "enjoyed" himself by shooting at people of the village.

Later he was sent to prison and upon his release he made his home in an abandoned school house. Chatterton and his wife took pity on the young man and gave him a home.

Lucille's father, learning of his daughter's plight, ran to the woods, seeking a trace of Woodward. Without food and without sleep for a day and a night, the frantic father has roved about the woodlands.

Searchers found camps in which Woodward and the child had stayed, but he slipped through the cordon.

An average of more than 9,000 freight cars a day are being loaded in France.

be too dull if everything were fixed for us in advance. And if, as the Turks believe, all is settled in advance and Allah and Mohammed, between them, know everything, each man's fate and destination after death, must be settled in advance. In that case, why struggle to reach Mohammed's paradise? Struggling would not do any good, if you're stentenced before you're born.

Edsel Ford, writing in The Nation's Business, published by the United States chamber of commerce, forsees a production of aircraft for all the people on a scale comparable with the present automobile production.

Speaking for himself and his father, Henry Ford, Ford discusses "air sedans" and cheap flying cars within the people's reach.

These predictions are encouraging. It is not the habit of the Fords to predict unless they know, or to indulge in vague surmises.

If Henry Ford and Edsel Ford predict a sky full of airplanes, they will manage to provide those airplanes.

This writer, some weeks ago saw the first all-metal Ford plane, in the Ford factory, shining like silver, light as paper, strong as steel, made of duralumin, 95 per cent aluminum, four per cent copper, two per cent of other alloy. That machine is now flying and impervious to the weather it can be left out of doors, anchored to the ground, no hangar necessary.

It will carry 12 passengers or a ton of freight. And, in two hours it can be changed to a bomb dropping machine, should foolish foreigners come to disturb its peaceful uses.

A short time, and our airplane problem will be solved. Thanks for that.

On motoring tours, throughout the United States, seeing America first, and seeing America in the most comfortable, satisfactory way, Americans will spend this year, $2,560,000,000.

DROPS WHISKY, MAKES GETAWAY

Constable Wherry Loses Race Against Automobile.

Constable F. P. Wherry today was on the look-out for a man suspected of transporting liquor, who eluded arrest after a long chase early last evening.

Wherry received a call from a party living near the East End car barns at 5 o'clock Sunday evening, asking that he investigate the strange actions of two men who had stopped at a home back of the car barns.

As Wherry approached the house, he noticed a man seated in an automobile. When the stranger say Wherry, he is said to have thrown a pint bottle of corn whisky from the car to the road, but the bottle failed to break. While the constable was recovering the bottle, the man in the car drove away. Wherry gave chase, but the motorist was soon lost to view.

Europe Shocked

would be for Germany to hold that the increasing demands of France were not possible of fulfillment.

France, England expects, will in all likelihood refuse longer to accept Germany's promise that it will remain on a peace footing. France, it was said, probably will ask for specific guarantees for its security.

Diplomats are looking to Great Britain to become mediator between the two traditional enemies. Diplomats said they were apprehensive, however, that Poland and Ccecho-Slovakia would be drawn into the political maelstrom which would make it exceedingly difficult for England to remain in a strictly neutral position.

London Not Alarmed.

The British foreign office comment on the Hindenburg election was:

"The closeness of the vote in Germany shows the country is fairly evenly divided. It is unlikely Hindenburg will attempt any steps of a radical nature.

"It is the view of British experts that the same sentiments which elected President Coolidge and Baldwin (premier of England)—also elected Hindenburg.

"The foreign office does not believe the Dawes' plan or the security pact will be affected."

France's Attitude.

PARIS, April 27.—So far as France is concerned Former Field Marshal Von Hindenburg still is "war prisoner number 237," the French foreign office pointed out today in commenting on Hindenburg's victory in the German presidential election.

The foreign office said it "did not intend to take any action whatsoever," but under the Versailles treaty Hindenburg still must remain as listed there.

The foreign office considers Hindenburg's election "reveals the real spirit of Germany and facilitates France's task" and that France "can now count on the aid of England and America to carry out rigorous disarmament and other clauses of the Versailles treaty."

The election, the foreign office asserted, also will greatly aid the ambassadors' council in reaching a decision this week. The council has before it the report of the military control claim which is said to show that Germany has not returned to a full peace basis.

Mixed Emotions in Washington.

WASHINGTON, April 27.—News of the election of Field Marshal Hindenburg to the presidency of Germany was received in Washington with mixed emotions and widely varying opinions today as to the result it will have on world conditions.

It cannot be said that the American government is either pleased or displeased with the outcome of the German election—rather, from the vantage point of 3,500 miles away, it is merely "interested" and somewhat apprehensive over the political developments that are likely to follow within the next six months.

Chief concern is felt here over two aspects of the Von Hindenburg victory (1) the probable effect it will have on Germany's continuing to carry out the Dawes plan, and (2) whether the election of the kaiser's right hand man can be regarded as the first step toward the restoration of the monarchy. Officials said today that time will have to answer both questions.

Borah Is Not Alarmed.

Senator William E. Borah, of Idaho, chairman of the senate foreign relations committee, and perhaps the closest observer of European conditions in Washington, was among those who professed to see no cause for alarm in the Nationalist victory.

"I don't think Von Hindenburg's election needs be regarded as necessarily disturbing," he said.

"There probably will be a recrudence of the Nationalistic spirit in Germany, but if this is directed along the right lines it will be helpful. I believe it will be directed along the right lines.

"There is going to be a lot of talk about Germany arming and getting ready for another war. I do not believe there will be anything of the sort. Germany is disarmed. She could not arm if she wanted to, and I don't believe she wants to. I expect to see a strong effort on the part of Germany to retain her national integrity, both territorially and economically, and I for one hope she may."

The world in general, and Europe in particular, will be better off, Borah believes, with strong, stable Germany, than with a weak and chaotic Germany.

"I think," he continued, "that the world had better proceed on the theory that the German people have the right to elect the man they want."

J. C. Hanley Named To Aid in Revision Of Election Laws

COLUMBUS, April 27.—First meeting of the special legislative committee charged with revision and codification of state election laws will be held here May 6, secretary of state, Thad H. Brown, announced today. The committee is expected to organize and to discuss policies.

Brown said he expected the committee would seek largely to effect economies in Ohio elections and to weed out discrepancies in the present laws. The question of permanent registration is expected to be discussed.

The secretary of state, as the chief election law enforcing officer, is expected to be named chairman of the committee. Brown's appointments to the committee are: J. C. Hanley, former prosecuting attorney, East Liverpool; H. A. Hirstius, clerk of the board of elections, Cleveland; Ray J. Hillenbrand, member of the board of elections, Cincinnati.

MURDERER PAYS DEATH PENALTY

BELLEFONTE, Pa., April 27.—Michael Soos, 26, a Hungarian paid with his life in the electric chair at Rockview penitentiary this morning for killing his 16-year-old bride of three months in a fit of jealous rage. Soos walked to the chair unflinchingly and without comment.

REPORTS FROM STOCK MARKET

NEW YORK, April 27.—Heaviness and reactionary price movements dominated the stock market in the early trading today. Stocks were pressed for sale in every department of the market, some of the leading industrial and motor shares declining 1 to 2 points in the first period, and only in exceptional cases were stocks strong enough to move against the trend. Declines were heaviest in industrial stocks which moved forward in last week's trading, and in specialty stocks like Commercial Sovents, which displayed conspicuous weakness in recent sessions.

Wall Street's attention was rivited on European developments, the most important of which was election of Von Hindenburg as president of Germany. Bearish traders made this the occasion for the offering of industrial speculative stocks, for which there was not a brick demand. The new German seven per cent. bonds, recently introduced to this market at 92 and which sold as high as 95¼ and closed Saturday at 93½, were also sold heavily and declined 2 points to 91⅝.

World War Veteran Succumbs Following Long Illness.

Following a lingering illness, Carl Clayton Shannon, 36 years old, died Sunday morning at 9:30 o'clock in his residence, Buckeye avenue and Tenth street, death being attributed to tuberculosis, which resulted in complications.

He was born in Cochocton county, on December 14, 1889, a son of Isaac and Crissie Shannon.

He was a World War veteran, having joined the colors on May 28, 1919, with an Alliance contingent. He was sent to Camp Gordon, Ga., where he was stationed until mid-summer of 1918, when, it is said, he contracted the illness which resulted in his death. After leaving Camp Gordon he was sent to Fort Bayard, Texas, by the government, where he remained until early fall.

Deceased was a member of the Presbyterian church, of Keene, Coshocton county.

Funeral services will be held Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the late residence, in charge of Rev. Frank H. Magill, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, and Rev. Harry Stewart, pastor of the First Methodist Episcopal church.

At Spring Hill cemetery, where burial will be made, Wellsville Post No. 70, American Legion, will conduct short services.

In addition to his wife, he is survived by his mother and two sisters, Mrs. Faith Trego and Mrs. Francis Stanford.

PERFECT MODEL IS WINTER GARDEN BEAUTY WITH SHUBERT'S PASSING SHOW

At the annual style show at the Grand Central palace, New York city, a prize of $500 was offered by the exhibitors for the best displayed gown and the best model.

A well-known Fifth avenue shop imported from Paris a beautiful black creation that had to be shown on a perfect 36 model, the model to have black bobbed hair, rather tall, and not weigh over 130 pounds. The task was to find the model that could fit, and knowing that the Winter Garden was famous for its beauties, they at once sought out Mr. J. J. Shubert in quest for a model to wear this gown at the style show. After looking over 500 of the Winter Garden girls they selected Miss Alice Wheeler, who is now one of the Winter Garden beauties with "The Passing Show" coming to the Ceramic Tuesday, April 28.

Merchants from all parts of the country are always in New York to attend the style show, and the judgment of the models and gowns has always been left to merchants from out of town, and it was these judges who awarded Miss Wheeler the prize for the most perfect model. When Mr. J. J. Shubert, under whose personal direction Winter Garden shows are produced, heard of Miss Wheeler winning the prize he at once sought out the shop which Miss Wheeler modeled for and purchased the gown, and you will see it in the Passing Show as Miss Wheeler wears it in the number "Eight Best Sellers" in which she represents the famous book, "Damned."

HOUSE OF DAVID BAND IS BOOKED

The House of David band, with its bewhiskered musicians, will be the chief entertainment at the Ceramic theatre the last part of the present week. This unique musical organization that stirs up, perhaps, a few thoughts about a certain so-called "king," does far more than that; it offers a pleasing musical program that is composed of both classical and jazz numbers and one particularly good cornet solo. The fact that the band is composed of members of a religious sect doesn't in the least hinder its members from putting on several rather spicy jazz numbers.

Monticello

One great national shrine, Mount Vernon, hsa been not only preserved from Revolutionry days but perpetuated as a public memorial. Not far away, in the Virginia hills, is another almost equally famous but still in private hands, fallen into disrepair and burdened with debt. It is Monticello, as intimately associated with Thomas Jefferson as Mount Vernon with George Washington. There is an energetic effort being made to rescue and preserve it as a national monument.

The effort so far centers in New York, where there is a big committee of citizens representing patriotic and educational societies, trades and industries, planning to raise the necessary money and prepare for a great celebration next year. July 4, 1926, will be the 150th anniversary of Jefferson's Declaration of Independence and the 100th anniversary of Jefferson's death.

Monticello was designed and built by Jefferson himself, as was Mount Vernon by Washington. "There were giants in those days." It is a noble reminder of one of the two most conspicuous men of the Revolutionary period, at the same time a statesman, a farmer, a scientist, an architect and an inventor. The plan to save Monticello should be supported in every section, by every class of Americans.

There can be no more fitting memorial to any great man than the home he creates in his maturity, to express himself and fit his own needs. A mere glimpse of the spacious beauty and nobility of homes like the two mentioned gives every succeeding generation new respect and admiration for the "founding fathers."

A Line of Bureaucracy

To a citizen complaining of the government printing office rule that an order for a cheap government bulletin must be accompanied by "postal money order, express order or New York draft," instead of the simple expedient of enclosing five cents in postage stamps, the superintendent writes:

"I fully appreciate your point of view regarding this requirement, but am sure you will realize that we could not advertise the fact that we would accept stamps, for the reason that we would be flooded with quantities that we could not use, and the postoffice department does not redeem them for us."

Which neatly begs the whole question. The question is, why the government printing office and the postoffice department do not get together on so simple a matter as this, and enable citizens to obtain public documents on which there is a charge of only a few cents by sending stamps for them, instead of going to the trouble and expense of getting "postal money order, express order, New York draft."

Here is a striking example of bureaucratic awkwardness, which inconveniences the public without really saving any trouble to the departments concerned. They could handle stamps as well as other forms of payment.

The Three H's

The superintendent of public schools of New Orleans believes that the schools in his community, though having some faults, are fundamentally sound. Instead of the old idea of the three R's, there are now three H's. Modern schools are trying to educate the "head, the heart and the hand.'

In addition to this, he says, school houses are better built in these days, teaching standards are higher, and the teaching profession is more widely respected.

These things, true in New Orleans, are also true in other cities all over the country. There is a growing belief that education must include "head, heart and hand" if character is to be developed along with mental training. The schools may be far from perfect, but educators themselves realize that and are striving earnestly to improve them. The educational ideal is ahead of realization. After all, that is a wholesome fact rather than a discouraging one.

Fishing For Men

"Man-fishing," an ancient sport, has been revived in Bath, England. A swimmer plays fish. He is hooked on top of the head, by means of a helmet and swivel. Then the tussle begins. The fisherman has the usual equipment for catching game fish.

In a test the other day, an experienced angler landed a 150-pound man in seven minutes and a half. The "fish" was a good swimmer. He was "played" with a light, 10-foot rod. At first he reeled out the line at will. But the steady pull soon began to tell on him. Little by little he had to yield, and when hauled in he was exhausted.

It sounds like an interesting sport, well adapted to add zest to American swimming pools and beaches. Many a fisherman, with a man or boy at the end of his line, would have all the sensation of playing a big fish, and learn much of that fine art. The human victim, too, might learn to have a little sympathy with real fish.

If the Pennsylvania railroad wants more names for its freight trains, we offer these: Smoky Queen, Nurmi Special, Flat Wheel Express, Switchback Champion, Royal Bumper, Brake Rod Bender, Percheron Founder, Boss Freight Shaker, Leap Frog, Behemoth and Eats 'Em Alive.

"Boys' Week" begins April 27, and ought to end April 26, next year, just in time to begin another one.

NEW YORK DAYBYDAY

By O. O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK, April 27.—A page from the diary of a modern Samuel Pepys: Early out to breakfast with Ray Rohn, the limner, and to see some circus dogs and had a brave frolic with them. Then home to cast my accounts and labour awhile, very pleasantly too.

This day my wife came to me about the buying of a benzine buggy and I for it and we sat out through town to look at them but Lord! the cost, nor could we settle on a suitable one. So to say farewell to Jay Kaufman against his going to Sicily.

In the evening to the Lotos Club to a dinner to Carl Magee, the editor, who told of his fight against corruption in New Mexico and of his many sentences to prison and spoke bravely. A noble crowd there including Mellville Stone, Bradford Merrill, Will Hays and others. Late to bed.

Broadway hears that Nick the Greek has kept his trust. He is the most spectacular of the plunging gamblers—a squat, blue jowled fellow given to dazzling shirts and scarfs. Not so long ago Nick ran afoul ill fortune and is said to have dropped close to a million dollars. He managed to borrow $20,000 and follow the course of the empire westward. His total indebtedness was $120,000. He seemed lost to the Roaring Gulch. But two weeks ago he took up his I. O. U.'s. He intimated he was "sitting pretty" again. Nobody seems to know. Nick the Greek's real name. Not even his intimates. Yet he is said to have been able at various times to borrow a million dollars on his word alone.

Central Park seems lovelier than ever this spring. For the cliff dwelling Manhattanese this wide open space close to the city's heartbeat is really a hole in the garden wall—wherein one may hide from a city's mad jangle. Just as the farm boy follows the curve of a winding brook in April, so may the city boy laugh with spring as it comes.

There are swans in the lake, blossoms on cherry trees and wisteria-clad cozy corners. The bridle path swarms with caracoling chargers and their gayly habited riders. The balloon women are there with their red, green and yellow toys and the venders with their gimcracks of all sorts for children.

The rented lake skiffs skim over the lake, carrying, strangely enough, sailor boys off on a day's furlough. Arrows painted on the walks chart out beautiful strolls for thes tranger. At eventide when the necklace of lights comes on the park becomes strangely quiet. There is a mysterious hush.

The moon hangs its slight crescent on the sky and there is a soft gravity about the trees and walks turning purple in the haze. It is the magic hour when New York pauses. Friendly benches scattered about hold hand-holding lovers. Along the Plaza wall old cabbies, making their last heroic stand against the gasoline god, perch like so many molting sparrows along the curb.

They suck at stub pipes and dream of the days when the world was young—when New York bloods in high toppers drove in smart four-wheelers drawn by spanking bays to the old Astor House bar for the evening aperitif. Across in Fifth Avenue homes light spring up. "Buttons" from the fashionable hotels air the prize winning kiyoodies.

There is a bright young man at the news-stand of the Grand Central station. He somehow contrives to find the names of regular customers nad thus addresses them. As a result of this enterprise he has already been offered several worth while jobs.

Jazz has bought the finest ranch in Colorado. Paul Whiteman is the buyer. After five years on Broadway, Paul is looking forward to the time when he can say: "Broadway? Oh, yes, I seem to remember that place."

The Cost of Bread.

WASHINGTON, D. C., April 27.—The baking industry of the country is greatly excited over the charges that are being made to the effect that there is an unreasonable margin of profit in the price the consumer must pay for a loaf of baker's bread. These charges are being widely disseminated and leading bakers are fearful that their business will be given an ugly black eye if the real facts are not brought before the public.

If congress were in session it is probable that an investigation would be asked, and it is quite possible that it will come to that when the national law-making body assembles next December. Meanwhile, however, the bakers hasten to deny with all emphasis and vigor that they are profiteers.

Briefly stated the indictment against the bakers is this: The federal government at commissaries and supply depots operated for the army sells bread "at cost" to persons employed in strictly governmental activities who are allowed the privilege of purchasing food and some other commodities on a cost basis. The price of this bread is uniformly two cents a loaf, which means that the commercial baker and retailer who is

One great national shrine, Mount Vernon, hsa been not only preserved from Revolutionry days but perpetuated as a public memorial. Not far away, in the Virginia hills, is another almost equally famous but still in private hands, fallen into disrepair and burdened with debt. It is Monticello, as intimately associated with Thomas Jefferson as Mount Vernon with George Washington. There is an energetic effort being made to rescue and preserve it as a national monument.

The effort so far centers in New York, where there is a big committee of citizens representing patriotic and educational societies, trades and industries, planning to raise the necessary money and prepare for a great celebration next year. July 4, 1926, will be the 150th anniversary of Jefferson's Declaration of Independence and the 100th anniversary of Jefferson's death.

Monticello was designed and built by Jefferson himself, as was Mount Vernon by Washington. "There were giants in those days." It is a noble reminder of one of the two most conspicuous men of the Revolutionary period, at the same time a statesman, a farmer, a scientist, an architect and an inventor. The plan to save Monticello should be supported in every section, by every class of Americans.

There can be no more fitting memorial to any great man than the home he creates in his maturity, to express himself and fit his own needs. A mere glimpse of the spacious beauty and nobility of homes like the two mentioned gives every succeeding generation new respect and admiration for the "founding fathers."

A Line of Bureaucracy

To a citizen complaining of the government printing office rule that an order for a cheap government bulletin must be accompanied by "postal money order, express order or New York draft," instead of the simple expedient of enclosing five cents in postage stamps, the superintendent writes:

"I fully appreciate your point of view regarding this requirement, but am sure you will realize that we could not advertise the fact that we would accept stamps, for the reason that we would be flooded with quantities that we could not use, and the postoffice department does not redeem them for us."

Which neatly begs the whole question. The question is, why the government printing office and the postoffice department do not get together on so simple a matter as this, and enable citizens to obtain public documents on which there is a charge of only a few cents by sending stamps for them, instead of going to the trouble and expense of getting "postal money order, express order, New York draft."

Here is a striking example of bureaucratic awkwardness, which inconveniences the public without really saving any trouble to the departments concerned. They could handle stamps as well as other forms of payment.

The Three H's

The superintendent of public schools of New Orleans believes that the schools in his community, though having some faults, are fundamentally sound. Instead of the old idea of the three R's, there are now three H's. Modern schools are trying to educate the "head, the heart and the hand.'

In addition to this, he says, school houses are better built in these days, teaching standards are higher, and the teaching profession is more widely respected.

These things, true in New Orleans, are also true in other cities all over the country. There is a growing belief that education must include "head, heart and hand" if character is to be developed along with mental training. The schools may be far from perfect, but educators themselves realize that and are striving earnestly to improve them. The educational ideal is ahead of realization. After all, that is a wholesome fact rather than a discouraging one.

Beware infection

A break in the skin is dangerous

EVEN the little injuries can lead to great trouble. If you cut or break the skin, microbes often get in; and if they do, they usually cause dangerous inflammation.

Take care of the cuts, burns, scrapes, blisters, etc. Cleanse them well—then apply Resinol Ointment. It will stop the smarting at once and start the healing right. Its soothing medication helps nature to fight germ invasion, and close the wound in a healthy way.

Resinol Soap has the same soothing qualities which help it to thoroughly cleanse and preserve the skin at the same time. Ideal for the complexion and bath.

Beware infection

A break in the skin is dangerous

EVEN the little injuries can lead to great trouble. If you cut or break the skin, microbes often get in; and if they do, they usually cause dangerous inflammation.

Take care of the cuts, burns, scrapes, blisters, etc. Cleanse them well—then apply Resinol Ointment. It will stop the smarting at once and start the healing right. Its soothing medication helps nature to fight germ invasion, and close the wound in a healthy way.

Resinol Soap has the same soothing qualities which help it to thoroughly cleanse and preserve the skin at the same time. Ideal for the complexion and bath.

Monticello

One great national shrine, Mount Vernon, hsa been not only preserved from Revolutionry days but perpetuated as a public memorial. Not far away, in the Virginia hills, is another almost equally famous but still in private hands, fallen into disrepair and burdened with debt. It is Monticello, as intimately associated with Thomas Jefferson as Mount Vernon with George Washington. There is an energetic effort being made to rescue and preserve it as a national monument.

The effort so far centers in New York, where there is a big committee of citizens representing patriotic and educational societies, trades and industries, planning to raise the necessary money and prepare for a great celebration next year. July 4, 1926, will be the 150th anniversary of Jefferson's Declaration of Independence and the 100th anniversary of Jefferson's death.

Monticello was designed and built by Jefferson himself, as was Mount Vernon by Washington. "There were giants in those days." It is a noble reminder of one of the two most conspicuous men of the Revolutionary period, at the same time a statesman, a farmer, a scientist, an architect and an inventor. The plan to save Monticello should be supported in every section, by every class of Americans.

There can be no more fitting memorial to any great man than the home he creates in his maturity, to express himself and fit his own needs. A mere glimpse of the spacious beauty and nobility of homes like the two mentioned gives every succeeding generation new respect and admiration for the "founding fathers."

A Line of Bureaucracy

To a citizen complaining of the government printing office rule that an order for a cheap government bulletin must be accompanied by "postal money order, express order or New York draft," instead of the simple expedient of enclosing five cents in postage stamps, the superintendent writes:

"I fully appreciate your point of view regarding this requirement, but am sure you will realize that we could not advertise the fact that we would accept stamps, for the reason that we would be flooded with quantities that we could not use, and the postoffice department does not redeem them for us."

Which neatly begs the whole question. The question is, why the government printing office and the postoffice department do not get together on so simple a matter as this, and enable citizens to obtain public documents on which there is a charge of only a few cents by sending stamps for them, instead of going to the trouble and expense of getting "postal money order, express order, New York draft."

Here is a striking example of bureaucratic awkwardness, which inconveniences the public without really saving any trouble to the departments concerned. They could handle stamps as well as other forms of payment.

The Three H's

The superintendent of public schools of New Orleans believes that the schools in his community, though having some faults, are fundamentally sound. Instead of the old idea of the three R's, there are now three H's. Modern schools are trying to educate the "head, the heart and the hand.'

In addition to this, he says, school houses are better built in these days, teaching standards are higher, and the teaching profession is more widely respected.

These things, true in New Orleans, are also true in other cities all over the country. There is a growing belief that education must include "head, heart and hand" if character is to be developed along with mental training. The schools may be far from perfect, but educators themselves realize that and are striving earnestly to improve them. The educational ideal is ahead of realization. After all, that is a wholesome fact rather than a discouraging one.

Fishing For Men

"Man-fishing," an ancient sport, has been revived in Bath, England. A swimmer plays fish. He is hooked on top of the head, by means of a helmet and swivel. Then the tussle begins. The fisherman has the usual equipment for catching game fish.

In a test the other day, an experienced angler landed a 150-pound man in seven minutes and a half. The "fish" was a good swimmer. He was "played" with a light, 10-foot rod. At first he reeled out the line at will. But the steady pull soon began to tell on him. Little by little he had to yield, and when hauled in he was exhausted.

It sounds like an interesting sport, well adapted to add zest to American swimming pools and beaches. Many a fisherman, with a man or boy at the end of his line, would have all the sensation of playing a big fish, and learn much of that fine art. The human victim, too, might learn to have a little sympathy with real fish.

If the Pennsylvania railroad wants more names for its freight trains, we offer these: Smoky Queen, Nurmi Special, Flat Wheel Express, Switchback Champion, Royal Bumper, Brake Rod Bender, Percheron Founder, Boss Freight Shaker, Leap Frog, Behemoth and Eats 'Em Alive.

"Boys' Week" begins April 27, and ought to end April 26, next year, just in time to begin another one.

NEW YORK DAY BY DAY

By O. O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK, April 27.—A page from the diary of a modern Samuel Pepys: Early out to breakfast with Ray Rohn, the limner, and to see some circus dogs and had a brave frolic with them. Then home to cast my accounts and labour awhile, very pleasantly too.

This day my wife came to me about the buying of a benzine buggy and I for it and we sat out through town to look at them but Lord! the cost, nor could we settle on a suitable one. So to say farewell to Jay Kaufman against his going to Sicily.

In the evening to the Lotos Club to a dinner to Carl Magee, the editor, who told of his fight against corruption in New Mexico and of his many sentences to prison and spoke bravely. A noble crowd there including Mellville Stone, Bradford Merrill, Will Hays and others. Late to bed.

Broadway hears that Nick the Greek has kept his trust. He is the most spectacular of the plunging gamblers—a squat, blue jowled fellow given to dazzling shirts and scarfs. Not so long ago Nick ran afoul ill fortune and is said to have dropped close to a million dollars. He managed to borrow $20,000 and follow the course of the empire westward. His total indebtedness was $120,000. He seemed lost to the Roaring Gulch. But two weeks ago he took up his I. O. U.'s. He intimated he was "sitting pretty" again. Nobody seems to know. Nick the Greek's real name. Not even his intimates. Yet he is said to have been able at various times to borrow a million dollars on his word alone.

Central Park seems lovelier than ever this spring. For the cliff dwelling Manhattanese this wide open space close to the city's heartbeat is really a hole in the garden wall—wherein one may hide from a city's mad jangle. Just as the farm boy follows the curve of a winding brook in April, so may the city boy laugh with spring as it comes.

There are swans in the lake, blossoms on cherry trees and wisteria-clad cozy corners. The bridle path swarms with caracoling chargers and their gayly habited riders. The balloon women are there with their red, green and yellow toys and the venders with their gimcracks of all sorts for children.

The rented lake skiffs skim over the lake, carrying, strangely enough, sailor boys off on a day's furlough. Arrows painted on the walks chart out beautiful strolls for thes tranger. At eventide when the necklace of lights comes on the park becomes strangely quiet. There is a mysterious hush.

The moon hangs its slight crescent on the sky and there is a soft gravity about the trees and walks turning purple in the haze. It is the magic hour when New York pauses. Friendly benches scattered about hold hand-holding levers. Along the Plaza wall old cabbies, making their last heroic stand against the gasoline god, perch like so many molting sparrows along the curb.

They suck at stub pipes and dream of the days when the world was young—when New York bloods in high toppers drove in smart four-wheelers drawn by spanking bays to the old Astor House bar for the evening aperitif. Across in Fifth Avenue homes light spring up. "Buttons" from the fashionable hotels air the prize winning kiyoodies.

There is a bright young man at the news-stand of the Grand Central station. He somehow contrives to find the names of regular customers and thus addresses them. As a result of this enterprise he has already been offered several worth while jobs.

Jazz has bought the finest ranch in Colorado. Paul Whiteman is the buyer. After five years on Broadway, Paul is looking forward to the time when he can say: "Broadway? Oh, yes, I seem to remember that place."

The Cost of Bread.

WASHINGTON, D. C., April 27.—The baking industry of the country is greatly excited over the charges that are being made to the effect that there is an unreasonable margin of profit in the price the consumer must pay for a loaf of baker's bread. These charges are being widely disseminated and leading bakers are fearful that their business will be given an ugly black eye if the real facts are not brought before the public.

If congress were in session it is probable that an investigation would be asked, and it is quite possible that it will come to that when the national law-making body assembles next December. Meanwhile, however, the bakers hasten to deny with all emphasis and vigor that they are profiteers.

Briefly stated the indictment against the bakers is this: The federal government at commissaries and supply depots operated for the army sells bread "at cost" to persons employed in strictly governmental activities who are allowed the privilege of purchasing food and some other commodities on a cost basis. The price of this bread is uniformly two cents a loaf, which means that the commercial baker and retailer who is

A break in the skin is dangerous

EVEN the little injuries can lead to great trouble. If you cut or break the skin, microbes often get in; and if they do, they usually cause dangerous inflammation.

Take care of the cuts, burns, scrapes, blisters, etc. Cleanse them well—then apply Resinol Ointment. It will stop the smarting at once and start the healing right. Its soothing medication helps nature to fight germ invasion, and close the wound in a healthy way.

Resinol Soap has the same soothing qualities which help it to thoroughly cleanse and preserve the skin at the same time. Ideal for the complexion and bath.

When You Catch Cold Rub on Musterole

Musterole is easy to apply and it gets in its good work right away. Often it prevents a cold from turning into "flu" or pneumonia. Just apply Musterole with the fingers. It does all the good work of grandmother's mustard plaster without the blister.

Musterole is a clean, white ointment, made of oil of mustard and other home simples. It is recommended by many doctors and nurses. Try Musterole for sore throat, cold on the chest, rheumatism, lumbago, pleurisy, stiff neck, bronchitis, asthma, neuralgia, congestion, pains and aches of the back and joints, sprains, sore muscles, bruises, chilblains, frosted feet—colds of all sorts.

To Mothers: Musterole is now made in milder form for babies and small children. Ask for Children's Musterole.

35c and 65c, jars and tubes; hospital size, $3.00.

Beware infection

A break in the skin is dangerous

EVEN the little injuries can lead to great trouble. If you cut or break the skin, microbes often get in; and if they do, they usually cause dangerous inflammation.

Take care of the cuts, burns, scrapes, blisters, etc. Cleanse them well—then apply Resinol Ointment. It will stop the smarting at once and start the healing right. Its soothing medication helps nature to fight germ invasion, and close the wound in a healthy way.

Resinol Soap has the same soothing qualities which help it to thoroughly cleanse and preserve the skin at the same time. Ideal for the complexion and bath.

Haskin's Letter

Stated even more briefly the answer of the bakers to this indictment is that it isn't true.

Henry Ford, through his magazine, was one of the first to sponsor the profiteering charge against those who produce the nation's daily bread and he suggested that one of the country's greatest needs is more bakeries like the army has. Selling bread at cost and holding that cost down to two cents a loaf struck Mr. Ford as one of the finest examples of social efficiency that had ever come under his observation.

Later a Boston publication took the matter up, saying that when bread consumers generall assumed that when the war emergency was over the former price level would be established.

Five Cents a Fair Price.

"Five cents was regarded as a fair price for bread," says this critic of the baking industry, "it being assumed that the difference between that price and the actual cost of production would afford a reasonable profit for the baker and the middleman. But the former schedules have not been re-established. It seems difficult, once a commodity has been advanced, to restore it to its original economic status. It is realized, of course, that the overhead cost of production and distribution has been greatly increased, but the fact remains that the price of bread is not fixed upon the basis of its cost so much as by what can be obtained for it."

It is pointed out that people who were reared on farms or in small villaves and those now enjoying rural advantages will recall readily the day when the cost of a loaf of bread was so small as to be insignificant. Flour made from wheat grown on the farm, mixed with milg from the farm dairy and baked by heat produced from wood which cost nothing more than the labor of preparing it gave the farmer his loaf of bread at a cost not to exceed one cent.

It is not suggested that city bakers can turn out bread at any such cost, but it is contended that there is no justification for a retail price of bread that is 10, 12 or even 15 times the estimated original cost of the farm-produced loaf. Then when the government undertakes to sell bread at cost and fixes the price at two cents a loaf it is taken for granted that a clear case has been made out against the producers of the staff of life, and that their profit is or could be if they were as efficient as the government a matter of 500 or 600 per cent.

Defenders of the bakers do not say what the cost of a loaf of bread is to them, but they do insist that the margin of profit is exceedingly small. The state of Wisconsin started out boldly, they say, to find bakery pillage, and found the profits to be from one-fourth to one-half a per cent a pound on bread, with a single exception where the baker had a profit of nearly one cent.

Why Uncle Sam's Cost Is Low.

I. K. Russell, a former Washington correspondent, now editor of the official organ of the baking industry, says that the explanation of Uncle Sam's low cost is a simple one because the only item considered is the price of flour in car-load lots.

Army bread, according to Mr. Russell, is baked by a baker on an army salary, not a cent of which comes from the baked product or is included in the computed "cost," the baker's assistants all get only their army pay, the bakery is furnished free, fully machined and fully manned, and stands on tax free ground, relieved from all official supervision and license fees.

In other words, army bread is produced without any labor cost, without any overhead expense, and without any capital charges, and when it is sold at two cents a loaf that price does not include any selling or distribution cost.

"In Chicago is the chief flour buying center for the army and also the school of subsistence where the books are kept on army costs," says Mr. Russell. "Major Robert Littlejohn, a remarkably intelligent and alert officer, is in command. We have a school of baking and our instructors frequently lecture at the army school, while theirs lecture at ours. Major Littlejohn explains the bread cost business in a way that ought to appeal to all fair-minded and reasonable people.

"He says that in the army they have many accounts. One of them is for flour. The factors of a soldier's ration are divided according to the total amount of cash allowed per day per ration. In the system of book keeping that brings the cost of bread out at two cents per loaf nothing whatever is counted but the car-load price of the flour from which it is made and th elittle bit of yeast used. Cash is paid out for the flour and this is checked off to the soldier to whom that flour is issued in the form of baked bread."

The bakery is built by the quartermaster and maintained by him, none of this expense being figured into the bread cost. Similarly as to personnel no service is hired that is chargeable to the bakery. The hired hands are soldiers and they work for their pay as soldiers. If one of them is not on the job for any reason the enlisted personnel supplies another at once and there is no employment of labor turnover expense.

"It is needless to add more," says Mr. Russell. "The beneficiaries of the army bread price do not carry the sustaining costs of baking and delivering bread. Under similar conditions the baker would be baking bread in a way that violates all American methods. The state and city would provide land, tax free and delivery wagons, price free. They would build and provide bakeries and equip them instead of sending around a young army of license collectors, labor inspectors, sanitary inspectors and what not, to get free board, among other things, off industry. The baker would have nothing to do but count the loaves as made and draw his salary from a public fund outside the shop."

However, all this controversy, interesting and important as it may well be to the consuming public, has not settled the debated point—hat does it actually cost the average city baker to produce the loaf of bread that retails at 10, 12 or 15 cents?

charging 10 to 12 cents a loaf for his product is gouging the consumer for a profit that is staggering when the percentage is figured.

Stated even more briefly the answer of the bakers to this indictment is that it isn't true.

Henry Ford, through his magazine, was one of the first to sponsor the profiteering charge against those who produce the nation's daily bread and he suggested that one of the country's greatest needs is more bakeries like the army has. Selling bread at cost and holding that cost down to two cents a loaf struck Mr. Ford as one of the finest examples of social efficiency that had ever come under his observation.

They would build and provide bakeries and equip them instead of sending around a young army of license collectors, labor inspectors, sanitary inspectors and what not, to get free board, among other things, off industry. The baker would have nothing to do but count the loaves as made and draw his salary from a public fund outside the shop."

However, all this controversy, interesting and important as it may well be to the consuming public, has not settled the debated point—hat does it actually cost the average city baker to produce the loaf of bread that retails at 10, 12 or 15 cents?

consumers generall assumed that when the war emergency was over the former price level would be established.

Five Cents a Fair Price.

"Five cents was regarded as a fair price for bread," says this critic of the baking industry, "it being assumed that the difference between that price and the actual cost of production would afford a reasonable profit for the baker and the middleman. But the former schedules have not been re-established. It seems difficult, once a commodity has been advanced, to restore it to its original economic status. It is realized, of course, that the overhead cost of production and distribution has been greatly increased, but the fact remains that the price of bread is not fixed upon the basis of its cost so much as by what can be obtained for it."

It is pointed out that people who were reared on farms or in small villaves and those now enjoying rural advantages will recall readily the day when the cost of a loaf of bread was so small as to be insignificant. Flour made from wheat grown on the farm, mixed with milg from the farm dairy and baked by heat produced from wood which cost nothing more than the labor of preparing it gave the farmer his loaf of bread at a cost not to exceed one cent.

It is not suggested that city bakers can turn out bread at any such cost, but it is contended that there is no justification for a retail price of bread that is 10, 12 or even 15 times the estimated original cost of the farm-produced loaf. Then when the government undertakes to sell bread at cost and fixes the price at two cents a loaf it is taken for granted that a clear case has been made out against the producers of the staff of life, and that their profit is or could be if they were as efficient as the government a matter of 500 or 600 per cent.

Defenders of the bakers do not say what the cost of a loaf of bread is to them, but they do insist that the margin of profit is exceedingly small. The state of Wisconsin started out boldly, they say, to find bakery pillage, and found the profits to be from one-fourth to one-half a per cent a pound on bread, with a single exception where the baker had a profit of nearly one cent.

Why Uncle Sam's Cost Is Low.

I. K. Russell, a former Washington correspondent, now editor of the official organ of the baking industry, says that the explanation of Uncle Sam's low cost is a simple one because the only item considered is the price of flour in car-load lots.

Army bread, according to Mr. Russell, is baked by a baker on an army salary, not a cent of which comes from the baked product or is included in the computed "cost," the baker's assistants all get only their army pay, the bakery is furnished free, fully machined and fully manned, and stands on tax-free ground, relieved from all official supervision and license fees.

In other words, army bread is produced without any labor cost, without any overhead expense, and without any capital charges, and when it is sold at two cents a loaf that price does not include any selling or distribution cost.

"In Chicago is the chief flour buying center for the army and also the school of subsistence where the books are kept on army costs," says Mr. Russell. "Major Robert Littlejohn, a remarkably intelligent and alert officer, is in command. We have a school of baking and our instructors frequently lecture at the army school, while theirs lecture at ours. Major Littlejohn explains the bread cost business in a way that ought to appeal to all fair-minded and reasonable people.

New Labor Newspaper Takes Sharp Fling At British Royalty

LONDON, Apr.—A new Labor newspaper, published on Sundays, entitled, "The Sunday Worker," has just appeared in England. It states its object thus:

"To fight the battle of the working class and of the working class alone. We shall have no truck with manufacturers, bankers or landlords. We shall not shake hands with royalty.

"We shall make no apologies for the oppression of colonial workers, whether white, brown, black or yellow. Our columns will be freely open to everyone on the side of the workers in the class struggle and are prepared to stay on that side to the bitter end."

TOWNSHIP ROADS MAY BE IMPROVED

Supervisters Gibbs and Donoldson of Chippewa township and Attorney A. G. Helbling conferred recently with the Beaver county commissioners at their offices in Beaver on the improvement of certain township roads. It is proposed by the spervisors to improve by slagging some of the township road and petition for state aid.

The supervistors may also ask the improvement of the Blackhawk road with concrete. This is an important township road and reaches a wealthy agricultural section of the county. One plan suggested some time ago was for the improvement of this road to Blackhawk and thence to Fairview where it would connect with the Tuscarawas road. The improvement of the Tuscarawas road from Beaver through Brighton and Ohio townships is also being considered.

This would reduce the distance considerably from points north of Beaver Falls to East Liverpool and other Ohio towns.

Queen Guards Gifts To Peasant Child Living Near Turin

TURIN, Italy, April—A little peasant girl living near here receives each week a package of candies and cakes from no less a personage than Queen Elena, simply because the innocent beauty of the maiden attracted Her Majesty while on a visit to the Princess Yolanda in her home at Pinerolo. Meeting the little girl, the Queen asked her if she knew how to sew. The child replied that she could knit, and the Queen, revealing her identity, asked the little girl to knit a pair of stockings for her and send them to the palace in Turin.

Upon their receipt the Queen sent the little girl a pair of silk stockings, one of which contained sweets and the other money. A few days later the Queen received a plaintive note from the child in which she said the present had caused may tears, as "my father took the money, my brother the candies, and my mother the stockings.

Ever since then a messenger brings a package of dainties every week and stands guard while the little girl enjoys them, to be sure she is not robbed of her property.

HIGH BALL TEAM GIVEN DEFEATS

Coach Kidder's Charges Lose to Weirton, New Cumberland.

Newell high school baseball team dropped two games here during the week-end to rival county tossers, losing to Weirton on Friday afternoon by a score of 15 to 4, and dropping another contest Saturday afternoon to New Cumberland, score 10 to 5.

Watson, who twirled against Weirton, was in good form, striking out 15 of the Steel City batters, but his support crumbled at critical stages and the visitors piled up a large score. Drum hurled against the county seaters and while effective at times was hit hard when runs counted for his opponents.

Bebe Scores Hit As Comedienne in Picture at Ceramic

Bebe Daniels comes to the Ceramic theatre today and Wednesday as the star of the Paramount picture, "Miss Bluebeard," directed by Frank Tuttle—a picturization of the Broadway stage play, "Little Miss Bluebeard," by Avery Hopwood.

The screen play, by Townsend Martin, deals with a series of matrimonial adventures and gives Miss Daniels a fine opportunitly to display her talent as a comedienne.

Bebe's role in the picture is one of a French actress. She goes to London on a holiday and, through a series of most amusing incidents enroute, she arrives there the wife of two men.

This piquant situation and the complications that follow are said to provide the volatile Bebe with an excellent opportunity for her comedy talents. The fun, while at all times clean and wholesome, is declared to be practically continuous. The stage play made from the same story, in which Irene Bordoni starred, scored a big success both on Broadway and on the road, arguing well for the picture.

Playing in support of Bebe in "Miss Bluebeard" are Raymond Griffith, one of the screen's foremost character comedians; Robert Frazer, leading man; Kenneth MacKenna and others.

Weak Women Should Read This

Men do not understand why women are so subject to occasional weakness and often real illness. The housewife often forces herself to go through a day's work when if her husband felt as miserable he would be in bed with the doctor at his bedside.

Much of this suffering is entirely unnecessary. A great deal of it is due to catarrh in the system—quite often unknown. The same mucus membane as exists in the nose and throat lines all other cavities of the body and is subject to the same catarrh, with all its weakening effect.

Women Have Approved

The manufacturers of World's Tonic have many gateful letters from women who through the use of this remarkable medicine have been relieved of this weakness, and have gained strength to attend to their duties cheerfully and well.

Women who suffer will find it a great friend. It can be obtained at all bodily functions and restores vigor and strength.

Whomen who suffer will find it a great friend. It can be obtained at Carnahans, also Brannan's, Wellsville, and other good druggists.

HIGH BALL TEAM GIVEN DEFEATS

Coach Kidder's Charges Lose to Weirton, New Cumberland.

Newell high school baseball team dropped two games here during the week-end to rival county tossers, losing to Weirton on Friday afternoon by a score of 15 to 4, and dropping another contest Saturday afternoon to New Cumberland, score 10 to 5.

Watson, who twirled against Weirton, was in good form, striking out 15 of the Steel City batters, but his support crumbled at critical stages and the visitors piled up a large score. Drum hurled against the county seaters and while effective at times was hit hard when runs counted for his opponents.

Coach Kidder is trying to arrange a game for this week with the Chester team.

Bebe Scores Hit As Comedienne in Picture at Ceramic

Bebe Daniels comes to the Ceramic theatre today and Wednesday as the star of the Paramount picture, "Miss Bluebeard," directed by Frank Tuttle—a picturization of the Broadway stage play, "Little Miss Bluebeard," by Avery Hopwood.

The screen play, by Townsend Martin, deals with a series of matrimonial adventures and gives Miss Daniels a fine opportunitly to display her talent as a comedienne.

Bebe's role in the picture is one of a French actress. She goes to London on a holiday and, through a series of most amusing incidents enroute, she arrives there the wife of two men.

This piquant situation and the complications that follow are said to provide the volatile Bebe with an excellent opportunity for her comedy talents. The fun, while at all times clean and wholesome, is declared to be practically continuous. The stage play made from the same story, in which Irene Bordoni starred, scored a big success both on Broadway and on the road, arguing well for the picture.

Playing in support of Bebe in "Miss Bluebeard" are Raymond Griffith, one of the screen's foremost character comedians; Robert Frazer, leading man; Kenneth MacKenna and others.

Weak Women Should Read This

Men do not understand why women are so subject to occasional weakness and often real illness. The housewife often forces herself to go through a day's work when if her husband felt as miserable he would be in bed with the doctor at his bedside.

Much of this suffering is entirely unnecessary. A great deal of it is due to catarrh in the system—quite often unknown. The same mucus membane as exists in the nose and throat lines all other cavities of the body and is subject to the same catarrh, with all its weakening effect.

Women Have Approved

The manufacturers of World's Tonic have many gateful letters from women who through the use of this remarkable medicine have been relieved of this weakness, and have gained strength to attend to their duties cheerfully and well.

Women who suffer will find it a great friend. It can be obtained at all bodily functions and restores vigor and strength.

Whomen who suffer will find it a great friend. It can be obtained at Carnahans, also Brannan's, Wellsville, and other good druggists.

MRS. JUNE RICE,
Martins Ferry, O.

Mrs. June Rice, 808 South Fourth street, Martins Ferry, O., a former resident of Wheeling, W. Va., has an interesting experience to relate with reference to Ka-di-ok, the wonderful stomach tonic and system builder. For nearly a year Mrs. Rice was a sufferer from stomach weakness and nervous breakdown, and could get no relief until she procured Ka-di-ok and began a course of treatment with that great medicine. HOLD SPELLING CONTEST HERE

Rural School Children Participate in Annual Event.

These five words, picnicking, pinafore, supersede, frolicking and accede proved stumbling blocks in the path of Newell Pottorff, of Highland school, Salem township, and Otis Stouffer, of Bridgewater school, Knox township, when these two young men traveled together through four rounds of spelling during the annual county spelling contest in the David Anderson high school last Saturday. These children were entered in the seventh-eighth grade contest, and four lists of words had to be pronounced before the first and second place winners were determined.

In this class there were four 100's in the first test. A second list brought out three ties of 96. The third test brought out three 100's and the fourth test of 10 words gave Newell Pottorff first prize money of $5 with a grade of 80 per cent and Otis Stouffer second prize money of $2.50 and a grade of 60 per cent. The former missed the two words supersede and accede, while Stouffer got twisted on the words picnicking, pinafore, supersede and frolicking.

While two boys won the seventh-eighth grade contest, two girls won in the fifth-sixth grade contest, these being Gertrude Grove, of Mill school, Knox township, who came through three lists of words with 100 per cent in each, and Mary Katherine Shockley, of Fairfield Centralized, with 96 per cent on the third and last test.

In this fifth-sixth contest there were 17 ties for first honors in the first list of words pronounced. In the second list of words there were 15 who came through with clean sheets. These 15 children were then given a third list of words, and 13 "fell down," leaving the first and second place winners.

There were 92 children taking part in the contest, 4 in the fifth-sixth grade and 48 in the seventh-eighth.

Superintendent W. H. Geiger, of the Lisbon schools, pronounced the words.

Superintendent Jansen, of the Salineville schools, and Miss Esterlt, a teacher from Columbiana, were the judges in the fifth-sixth grade contest, while E. P. Stonebraker, of Leetonia, and Mrs. Page were the judges in the seventh-eighth grade contest.

HOLD SPELLING CONTEST HERE

Rural School Children Participate in Annual Event.

These five words, picnicking, pinafore, supersede, frolicking and accede proved stumbling blocks in the path of Newell Pottorff, of Highland school, Salem township, and Otis Stouffer, of Bridgewater school, Knox township, when these two young men traveled together through four rounds of spelling during the annual county spelling contest in the David Anderson high school last Saturday. These children were entered in the seventh-eighth grade contest, and four lists of words had to be pronounced before the first and second place winners were determined.

In this class there were four 100's in the first test. A second list brought out three ties of 96. The third test brought out three 100's and the fourth test of 10 words gave Newell Pottorff first prize money of $5 with a grade of 80 per cent and Otis Stouffer second prize money of $2.50 and a grade of 60 per cent. The former missed the two words supersede and accede, while Stouffer got twisted on the words picnicking, pinafore, supersede and frolicking.

While two boys won the seventh-eighth grade contest, two girls won in the fifth-sixth grade contest, these being Gertrude Grove, of Mill school, Knox township, who came through three lists of words with 100 per cent in each, and Mary Katherine Shockley, of Fairfield Centralized, with 96 per cent on the third and last test.

In this fifth-sixth contest there were 17 ties for first honors in the first list of words pronounced. In the second list of words there were 15 who came through with clean sheets. These 15 children were then given a third list of words, and 13 "fell down," leaving the first and second place winners.

There were 92 children taking part in the contest, 4 in the fifth-sixth grade and 48 in the seventh-eighth.

Superintendent W. H. Geiger, of the Lisbon schools, pronounced the words.

Superintendent Jansen, of the Salineville schools, and Miss Esterlt, a teacher from Columbiana, were the judges in the fifth-sixth grade contest, while E. P. Stonebraker, of Leetonia, and Mrs. Page were the judges in the seventh-eighth grade contest.

East Liverpool Seeks Berth In New National Pro Cage League

Plans For 12-Club Circuit Drawn Up At Cleveland Meet

Organization of Ceramic City Enterprise in Hands of Frank Allison, Noted Floor Star of 1903-'04; Greatest Players in Country Will be Enrolled by Teams in Circuit.

Resurrected from the shadows of more than 20 years ago when the name of East Liverpool was emblazoned on the sport scroll from coast to coast as one of the greatest basketball teams of the country, the great fall and winter indoor sport, played in a professional way with the greatest clubs of the country in action, is coming back to the Ceramic City.

East Liverpool, barring unforseen occurrances, will be represented in the American Basketball League, a national organization of professional players, equal in rank in their own sport to the national leaguers of baseball, during 1925-26 and indefinitely afterwards.

Frank Allison, member of the old East Liverpool combine that pioneered basketball in the Buckeye state, is the prime mover in the league for the East Liverpool contingent.

Allison knows basketball and basketball players from A to Z and then some.

For more than 20 years, or since the days of 1903-'04, he has been away from East Liverpool, mostly in the East. Recently he was called to East Liverpool by the death of his mother. He was on the inside of the National basketball loop then in the early formulative stages, and consequently, was at the ringside when preliminary plans were drawn up Saturday at a meeting in the Hotel Statler, Cleveland, with Max Rosenblum, Cleveland sport enthusiast, as host.

Allison has his plans for presenting basketball in this city well mapped out and is confident that he can carry them along to maturity. If he is successful, and there is every reason to believe he will be, the city will witness one of the greatest sport revivals in its history.

Joseph F. Carr, Columbus, who organized the National Football league, is the organizer of the new sport circuit. He was elected its president and secretary. Members of the executive committee are Max Rosenblum of Cleveland, George Marshall of Washington and George Halas of Chicago.

It was decided to limit the number of members of the league to 12.

Max Rosenblum, backer of the Rosies, was host to the visiting basketball delegates and made a number of recommendations to the assembled delegates regarding fairness in operation and cleanliness in play. His sentiments were heartily indorsed by the delegates.

Complete organization of this new cage circuit is planned by June 1, under an agreement reached at the meeting. Delegates present were asked to file application for membership, each application to be accompanied by $100 as a guarantee of good faith in carrying out the regulations of the new loop.

Each club asking for membership was given until May 15 to determine finally if it would take up a franchise if acceptable to the executive committee. The executive committee was given power to decide what towns shall be awarded franchises.

The cost of membership in the league to charter members was set at $1,000, which must be paid by June 1 by teams accepted. This will give the new league a treasury of $12,000 as early as June 1, and the remainder of the summer in which to prepare for the opening of the season.

Teams filing application for membership and turning over their $100 immediately were: Cleveland, Rosenblums, Canton, East Liverpool, Columbus, Milwaukee, Boston, Chicago, Ft. Wayne K. of C.; Pulaski Post of Detroit; Rochester Centrals; Baltimore and Washington Palace club.

President Carr, who has organized baseball and football leagues, said that in his long experience he never has obtained such hearty support and indorsement at a first meeting. It was the opinion of delegates that the time is here for the formation of this league and the prediction was made the new circuit will be a success from the start and will equal loops in other sports in its field.

The opinion was expressed that it would be advisable for the league to open its season the first week in December and continue until the first week in April but the drafting of the schedule was left to the executive committee.

A constitution and by-laws for the new circuit will be drawn up and submitted to the members prior to June 1. These will call for player limit, salary limit and other regulations which members must observe.

Officials made it clear that application now for membership does not necessarily mean membership. Other applications can be received but the favorable action on applications is up to the executive committee.

Organization of this circuit means that East Liverpool next season will be in a basketball loop that will have among its members teams that have the best cage players in the country and these will be seen here. Teams will be permitted to play games with independent teams on dates not conflicting with the league schedule.

Delegates at Saturday's meeting were: Max Rosenblum and I. S. Rose, of the Cleveland Rosenblums; Joseph F. Carr and M. J. O'Rourke, of Columbus; J. S. Morley and Sam Snyder, of Boston; Frank Morganweck, of Baltimore; George Marshall and Garry Schmelk, of Washington, D. C.; A. L. McGurk, of Milwaukee; George Halas and Larry Wainquist, of Chicago; F. D. Allison, of East Liverpool; A. L. Oscar, of Canton; John Brobowski, of Detroit; C. L. Alter, of Ft. Wayne and Jack Nieman, of Rochester.

Further details of organization will be worked out by the executive committee which will meet from time to time and it is the hope of those fathering the organization that everything will be set for the smooth operation of the new sport league by the first of December to the end that basketball fans of the country be given the best there is in the cage game through organized effort.

Tagging The Bases

Chicago White Sox enthusiasm gave the Cleveland Indians another victory, by the empty sounding forfeit score of 9 to 0. The Indians were leading, 7 to 2, when fervid Sox fans infected the playing field in the ninth inning and the umpire called it a day, maintaining it was impossible to continue.

Bentley held the Phillies to six blows and the Giants tightened their grasp on first place in a 4 to 1 victory.

The world champion Senators relapsed into a tie with the Athletics for second place when Paschal's homer gave the Yankees a ninth inning 3 to 2 win.

The Cubs gained a notch on the Reds by bunched blows in the ninth. They scored two runs and won 6 to 5.

Sisler hit safely in his twelfth consecutive game, the Tigers made their defeats five in a row and Browns won 6 to 4.

The Pirates scored four runs in the eighth and another in the ninth to defeat the Cardinals, 6-1.

FIVE BROTHERS

Give Baseball Fans Something to Chew on

By Norman E. Brown.

Ever since the Smith brothers broke into the coughdrop game—

And the Five Brothers began making tobacco, stories of families in a given branch of sport have been written and rewritten.

Baseball has had its share of brothers. The Delehanty boys probably drew the most limelight in their day, partly because of their number. There were four of them. But right now the Grimes boys loom up as the biggest family, if not the most famous.

There are just five members of the Grimes tribe demanding various measures of fame on the diamond.

Topping the list, of course, is the well known Burleigh, one of Brooklyn's pitching aces for the last seven years. Grimes not only ranks as one of the best pitchers in the game, but he is one of its best known holdouts. Grimes includes a holding out session in his spring training program just as other pitchers do a rubber shirt.

By reason of the fact that he is the other member of the family to reside for some time in the big show, brother Ray, who broke in with the Chicago Cubs, comes next in importance. Ray held the first basing job with the Cubs until the deal with the Pirates, which brought Charley Grimm to the club, was negotiated. Then Ray went to Los Angeles. He made his presence felt there by slamming out a homer in one of the early games while cavorting in brilliant fashion at first.

Roy Grimes is playing first base for the Columbus Senators and if his work this season is up to that of the 1924 campaign another year may find him in the big show.

Brother Shirley got his chance in the South Association this year and Kenneth signed with Columbus, according to the dope at hand.

All of which draws considerable attention to the little town of Minerva, O., where these lads learned the fundamentals of the game on the lots. According to record book, however, Burleigh, at least, wasn't born there. His birthplace is given as Clearwater, Wis., which should be included in the booster pamphlets issued by the chamber of commerce of that fair city.

All five of the boys are crack shots and spend their off months potting the birds, clay and real.

Paschal Hits Homer And Yanks Beat Nats

WASHINGTON, April 27.—After four straight victories the Nats went to their third defeat of the season Sunday, New York winning, 3 to 2.

The Yankees tied the score in the seventh and forged into the lead in the final inning, when Paschal, holding down Babe Ruth's position in right field, clouted the ball for a home run into the left field stands.

Glove Rivals Seek Out Training Camps

NEW YORK, April 27.—With clocks turned forward an hour to stretch daylight, and a June balm pervading the air, the call of the great wide open spaces beckons the principals in the big outdoor boxing shows scheduled for the next few weeks.

First to announce the location of their spring training bases were Mike McTigue and Paul Berlenbach, whose fifteen round frolic will feature the milk fund show at the Yankee Stadium May 29. McTigue goes to work this week at Summit, N. J., and Berlenbach near Southampton, L. I.

The astute Doc Bailey will preside over McTigue's camp and Dan Hickey, late of the New York A. C., will devote all his time to Berlanbach's training.

Jimmy De Forest, handling the Tom Gibbons-Gene Tunney show at the Polo Grounds, has requested both fighters to locate within fifty miles of New York.

Tunney has been persuaded to abandon his old camp at Red Band, N. J., and may seek some quiet spot, convenient to a good golf course, in Westchester county. Gibbons may locate on one of the high peaks in Jersey, possibly near Summit. The St. Paul boxer likes the seashore and Eddie Kane, his manager, likes the hills. Like Tunney, Gibbons wants a good golf course near at hand.

Prices for the three approaching outdoor shows will be fixed by the boxing commission soon. The Berlenbach-McTigue quarrel and the Gibbons-Tunney match probably will be sealed from $2 to $15. The Italian hospital fund show may go to $20 tops on account of the double attraction of the Walker-Greb title match and the heavyweight number featuring Wills and Weinert.

Marquard and Ryan doled out six hits and a whitewash defeat to the Robins, 3 to 0. Marquard was retired in the ninth when the Brave lead was threatened by a mild rally.

Braves are Victors Over Dodgers 3 to 0

BROOKLYN, April 27.—Boston shut out Brooklyn, 3 to 0, in their opening clash of the season here Sunday. Rube Marquard was credited with the victory, although he was taken out in the ninth with two Dodgers on bases and none out. Ryan, who relieved him, retired the next three batters.

Up to the ninth, Marquard pitched one of his best games, holding the hard hitting Dodgers to five scattered hits.

Chester made their two runs in the eighth on a double and two singles.

The Scholastics scored in the third on an error and two singles and got their last run in the ninth, when Wildblood walked and Maley singled. The latter went to second when Bennett threw Wildblood out at third after C. Campbell dropped Bloor's fly and Maley came home on Mackall's single.

East Liverpool Seeks Berth In New National Pro Cage League

Plans For 12-Club Circuit Drawn Up At Cleveland Meet

Organization of Ceramic City Enterprise in Hands of Frank Allison, Noted Floor Star of 1903-'04; Greatest Players in Country Will be Enrolled by Teams in Circuit.

Resurrected from the shadows of more than 20 years ago when the name of East Liverpool was emblazoned on the sport scroll from coast to coast as one of the greatest basketball teams of the country, the great fall and winter indoor sport, played in a professional way with the greatest clubs of the country in action, is coming back to the Ceramic City.

East Liverpool, barring unforseen occurrances, will be represented in the American Basketball League, a national organization of professional players, equal in rank in their own sport to the national leaguers of baseball, during 1925-26 and indefinitely afterwards.

Frank Allison, member of the old East Liverpool combine that pioneered basketball in the Buckeye state, is the prime mover in the league for the East Liverpool contingent.

Allison knows basketball and basketball players from A to Z and then some.

For more than 20 years, or since the days of 1903-'04, he has been away from East Liverpool, mostly in the East. Recently he was called to East Liverpool by the death of his mother. He was on the inside of the National basketball loop then in the early formulative stages, and consequently, was at the ringside when preliminary plans were drawn up Saturday at a meeting in the Hotel Statler, Cleveland, with Max Rosenblum, Cleveland sport enthusiast, as host.

Allison has his plans for presenting basketball in this city well mapped out and is confident that he can carry them along to maturity. If he is successful, and there is every reason to believe he will be, the city will witness one of the greatest sport revivals in its history.

Joseph F. Carr, Columbus, who organized the National Football league, is the organizer of the new sport circuit. He was elected its president and secretary. Members of the executive committee are Max Rosenblum of Cleveland, George Marshall of Washington and George Halas of Chicago.

It was decided to limit the number of members of the league to 12.

Max Rosenblum, backer of the Rosies, was host to the visiting basketball delegates and made a number of recommendations to the assembled delegates regarding fairness in operation and cleanliness in play. His sentiments were heartily indorsed by the delegates.

Complete organization of this new cage circuit is planned by June 1, under an agreement reached at the meeting. Delegates present were asked to file application for membership, each application to be accompanied by $100 as a guarantee of good faith in carrying out the regulations of the new loop.

Each club asking for membership was given until May 15 to determine finally if it would take up a franchise if acceptable to the executive committee. The executive committee was given power to decide what towns shall be awarded franchises.

The cost of membership in the league to charter members was set at $1,000, which must be paid by June 1 by teams accepted. This will give the new league a treasury of $12,000 as early as June 1, and the remainder of the summer in which to prepare for the opening of the season.

Teams filing application for membership and turning over their $100 immediately were: Cleveland, Rosenblums, Canton, East Liverpool, Columbus, Milwaukee, Boston, Chicago, Ft. Wayne K. of C.; Pulaski Post of Detroit; Rochester Centrals; Baltimore and Washington Palace club.

President Carr, who has organized baseball and football leagues, said that in his long experience he never has obtained such hearty support and indorsement at a first meeting. It was the opinion of delegates that the time is here for the formation of this league and the prediction was made the new circuit will be a success from the start and will equal loops in other sports in its field.

The opinion was expressed that it would be advisable for the league to open its season the first week in December and continue until the first week in April but the drafting of the schedule was left to the executive committee.

A constitution and by-laws for the new circuit will be drawn up and submitted to the members prior to June 1. These will call for player limit, salary limit and other regulations which members must observe.

Officials made it clear that application now for membership does not necessarily mean membership. Other applications can be received but the favorable action on applications is up to the executive committee.

Organization of this circuit means that East Liverpool next season will be in a basketball loop that will have among its members teams that have the best cage players in the country and these will be seen here. Teams will be permitted to play games with independent teams on dates not conflicting with the league schedule.

Delegates at Saturday's meeting were: Max Rosenblum and I. S. Rose, of the Cleveland Rosenblums; Joseph F. Carr and M. J. O'Rourke, of Columbus; J. S. Morley and Sam Snyder, of Boston; Frank Morganweck, of Baltimore; George Marshall and Garry Schmelk, of Washington, D. C.; A. L. McGurk, of Milwaukee; George Halas and Larry Wainquist, of Chicago; F. D. Allison, of East Liverpool; A. L. Oscar, of Canton; John Brobowski, of Detroit; C. L. Alter, of Ft. Wayne and Jack Nieman, of Rochester.

Further details of organization will be worked out by the executive committee which will meet from time to time and it is the hope of those fathering the organization that everything will be set for the smooth operation of the new sport league by the first of December to the end that basketball fans of the country be given the best there is in the cage game through organized effort.

Tagging The Bases

Chicago White Sox enthusiasm gave the Cleveland Indians another victory, by the empty sounding forfeit score of 9 to 0. The Indians were leading, 7 to 2, when fervid Sox fans infected the playing field in the ninth inning and the umpire called it a day, maintaining it was impossible to continue.

Bentley held the Phillies to six blows and the Giants tightened their grasp on first place in a 4 to 1 victory.

The world champion Senators relapsed into a tie with the Athletics for second place when Paschal's homer gave the Yankees a ninth inning 3 to 2 win.

The Cubs gained a notch on the Reds by bunched blows in the ninth. They scored two runs and won 6 to 5.

Sisler hit safely in his twelfth consecutive game, the Tigers made their defeats five in a row and Browns won 6 to 4.

The Pirates scored four runs in the eighth and another in the ninth to defeat the Cardinals, 6-1.

Record Day

FIVE BROTHERS

Give Baseball Fans Something to Chew on

By Norman E. Brown.

Ever since the Smith brothers broke into the coughdrop game—

And the Five Brothers began making tobacco, stories of families in a given branch of sport have been written and rewritten.

Baseball has had its share of brothers. The Delehanty boys probably drew the most limelight in their day, partly because of their number. There were four of them. But right now the Grimes boys loom up as the biggest family, if not the most famous.

There are just five members of the Grimes tribe demanding various measures of fame on the diamond.

Topping the list, of course, is the well known Burleigh, one of Brooklyn's pitching aces for the last seven years. Grimes not only ranks as one of the best pitchers in the game, but he is one of its best known holdouts. Grimes includes a holding out session in his spring training program just as other pitchers do a rubber shirt.

By reason of the fact that he is the other member of the family to reside for some time in the big show, brother Ray, who broke in with the Chicago Cubs, comes next in importance. Ray held the first basing job with the Cubs until the deal with the Pirates, which brought Charley Grimm to the club, was negotiated. Then Ray went to Los Angeles. He made his presence felt there by slamming out a homer in one of the early games while cavorting in brilliant fashion at first.

Roy Grimes is playing first base for the Columbus Senators and if his work this season is up to that of the 1924 campaign another year may find him in the big show.

Brother Shirley got his chance in the South Association this year and Kenneth signed with Columbus, according to the dope at hand.

All of which draws considerable attention to the little town of Minerva, O., where these lads learned the fundamentals of the game on the lots. According to record book, however, Burleigh, at least, wasn't born there. His birthplace is given as Clearwater, Wis., which should be included in the booster pamphlets issued by the chamber of commerce of that fair city.

All five of the boys are crack shots and spend their off months potting the birds, clay and real.

Paschal Hits Homer And Yanks Beat Nats

WASHINGTON, April 27.—After four straight victories the Nats went to their third defeat of the season Sunday, New York winning, 3 to 2.

The Yankees tied the score in the seventh and forged into the lead in the final inning, when Paschal, holding down Babe Ruth's position in right field, clouted the ball for a home run into the left field stands.

Glove Rivals Seek Out Training Camps

NEW YORK, April 27.—With clocks turned forward an hour to stretch daylight, and a June balm pervading the air, the call of the great wide open spaces beckons the principals in the big outdoor boxing shows scheduled for the next few weeks.

First to announce the location of their spring training bases were Mike McTigue and Paul Berlenbach, whose fifteen round frolic will feature the milk fund show at the Yankee Stadium May 29. McTigue goes to work this week at Summit, N. J., and Berlenbach near Southampton, L. I.

The astute Doc Bailey will preside over McTigue's camp and Dan Hickey, late of the New York A. C., will devote all his time to Berlanbach's training.

Jimmy De Forest, handling the Tom Gibbons-Gene Tunney show at the Polo Grounds, has requested both fighters to locate within fifty miles of New York.

Tunney has been persuaded to abandon his old camp at Red Band, N. J., and may seek some quiet spot, convenient to a good golf course, in Westchester county. Gibbons may locate on one of the high peaks in Jersey, possibly near Summit. The St. Paul boxer likes the seashore and Eddie Kane, his manager, likes the hills. Like Tunney, Gibbons wants a good golf course near at hand.

Prices for the three approaching outdoor shows will be fixed by the boxing commission soon. The Berlenbach-McTigue quarrel and the Gibbons-Tunney match probably will be scaled from $2 to $15. The Italian hospital fund show may go to $20 tops on account of the double attraction of the Walker-Greb title match and the heavyweight number featuring Wills and Weinert.

Marquard and Ryan doled out six hits and a whitewash defeat to the Robins, 3 to 0. Marquard was retired in the ninth when the Brave lead was threatened by a mild rally.

Braves are Victors Over Dodgers 3 to 0

BROOKLYN, April 27.—Boston shut out Brooklyn, 3 to 0, in their opening clash of the season here Sunday. Rube Marquard was credited with the victory, although he was taken out in the ninth with two Dodgers on bases and none out. Ryan, who relieved him, retired the next three batters.

Up to the ninth, Marquard pitched one of his best games, holding the hard hitting Dodgers to five scattered hits.

The Chester lads landing on his curves for ten safe blows in seven innings. Mackall finished the game for the Scholastics.

Campbell and Bennett were the slugging stars of the game, Campbell hitting the horsehide for two doubles and a single in three times at bat, while Bennett found English's curves much to his liking, getting three singles and a double in five times to the plate. Chester tallied a run in the first. H. Campbell singled, went to second on Shaw's out at first, and came home on Bennett's single.

Chester sent two more runners across the pan in the fifth. H. Campbell walked, Shaw beat out an infield hit, Bennett hit for two sacks, scoring Campbell, and Shaw scored on De Long's sacrifice fly.

Chester got two more tallies in the sixth when Simcox and H. Campbell doubled, Simcox scoring and Campbell crossed the plate on Bennett's single.

The seventh inning was a big one for the Chester lads, they crossing the plate seven times on three hits two walks, a hit batter, three stolen bases, and three costly errors.

Chester made their two runs in the eighth on a double and two singles.

The Scholastics scored in the third on an error and two singles and got their last run in the ninth, when Wildblood walked and Maley singled. The latter went to second when Bennett threw Wildblood out at third after C. Campbell dropped Bloor's fly and Maley came home on Mackall's single.

A Hint for Beginners

The cross-word puzzle diagram is merely a means of concealing words which are synonymous to those listed and which will interlock perfectly and so read equally well crosswise or downwards. Always look for the number of the synonym on the diagram. If horizontal, you must find a word to fit between that number and the first shaded stop to the right; if vertical, you must fit your word between the number and the first shaded stop below.

Tribe Wins Forfeit Clash From Chicago

CHICAGO, April 27.—The opening game between the Chicago White Sox and Cleveland Indians here Sunday was forfeited to the latter, 9 to 0, in the ninth inning, when the visitors were leading, 7 to 2. The largest crowd which ever had witnessed a game in Chicago—close to 44,000—swarmed on the field after two White Sox had been retired in the ninth, and Kamm reached first base on an error by Knode, who failed to touch the bag after receiving J. Sewell's throw.

The umpires and police attempted to clear the field, but were helpless. In the eighth inning the fans started a cushion fight, the grandstand patrons throwing cushions at the overflow crowd, who returned the fusillade. This bombardment continued, and, after Kamm's grounder to short, the crowd broke out on the field and it was impossible to continue.

Sherrod Smith, Cleveland southpaw, pitched a steady game and was aided by sensational support, including four double plays and poor base running on the part of the locals. Cleveland had an easy time pilling up runs, bunching hits and driving Hollis Thurston off the mound.

A Hint for Beginners

The cross-word puzzle diagram is merely a means of concealing words which are synonymous to those listed and which will interlock perfectly and so read equally well crosswise or downwards. Always look for the number of the synonym on the diagram. If horizontal, you must find a word to fit between that number and the first shaded stop to the right; if vertical, you must fit your word between the number and the first shaded stop below.

Detroit Rallies Fall Short; Browns Victors

DETROIT, April 27.—Eighth and ninth-inning rallies fell two short of the needed runs and Detroit lost to St. Louis, 6 to 4, before a crowd of 30,000 persons.

Tribe Wins Forfeit Clash From Chicago

CHICAGO, April 27.—The opening game between the Chicago White Sox and Cleveland Indians here Sunday was forfeited to the latter, 9 to 0, in the ninth inning, when the visitors were leading, 7 to 2. The largest crowd which ever had witnessed a game in Chicago—close to 44,000—swarmed on the field after two White Sox had been retired in the ninth, and Kamm reached first base on an error by Knode, who failed to touch the bag after receiving J. Sewell's throw.

The umpires and police attempted to clear the field, but were helpless. In the eighth inning the fans started a cushion fight, the grandstand patrons throwing cushions at the overflow crowd, who returned the fusillade. This bombardment continued, and, after Kamm's grounder to short, the crowd broke out on the field and it was impossible to continue.

Sherrod Smith, Cleveland southpaw, pitched a steady game and was aided by sensational support, including four double plays and poor base running on the part of the locals. Cleveland had an easy time piling up runs, bunching hits and driving Hollis Thurston off the mound.

—to regain Strength

—brings joy to you and your friends.

EVERY man, woman and child wants to have strength and correct weight. It means the joy of living. To be minus strength and underweight often proves low fighting-power in the body. It often means you are minus nerve-power, minus red cells in your blood, minus health, minus vitality. It is serious to be minus, but the moment you increase the number of your red-blood-cells, you begin to become plus. That's why S.S.S., since 1826, has meant to thousands of underweight men and women a plus in their strength. Your body fills to the point of power, your flesh becomes firmer, the age lines that come from thinness disappear. You look younger, firmer, happier, and you feel it, too, all over your body.

More red-blood-cells! S.S.S. aids Nature in building them by the million! There are no unproven theories about S.S.S., the scientific results of each of its purely vegetable medicinal ingredients are admitted by authorities. Begin taking S.S.S. today. It will give you more energy, vitality and vigor and a more up and going appearance.

S. S. S. is sold at all good drug stores in two sizes. The larger size is more economical.

An Unhappy "Dry."
Did "Fate" Get Him?
Edsel Ford Predicts.
Honor the Automobile.

By ARTHUR BRISBANE.

(The opinions expressed in this column are strictly those of Mr. Brisbane and not necessarily in consonance with the policies of The Review-Tribune).

Senator Ferris, a sincere "dry," as dry as the desert of Sahara, or the inside of Jonah's whale, says prohibition is a failure.

"Lawmakers lead in violating the law," he says, shocked to hear other senators boasting and laughing about violating the Constitution that they have sworn to uphold.

Senator Ferris thinks prohibition can still "succeed," if enforcement can be taken out of politics.

But that can't be done, and if it could be done, would it make any difference?

If men, in secret, can change one dollar's worth of good corn into 25 dollars worth of poisonous whisky, at no expense, can you stop bootlegging?

There were fewer than 500 distilleries in the country before prohibition became the law. Since then 34,000 distilleries have been seized. And, for every one seized two have been started. Prohibition was made law by men who violate it, never had any intention of obeying the law or respecting the Constitution. How can you expect the great professional bootleg criminal class, created by prohibition not to follow an example set in the highest places?

Begin at the top. You find that we have had three presidents under prohibition, and Calvin Coolidge is the first of them to drink only water, plus tea, buttermilk, gingfer ale and the other moral concoctions, of course.

Every servant of a great club in Washington knew that a president of the United States had in the club his locker supplied with whisky and openly passed the beverage around among his friends, and transported it through the streets of the ciapital in violation of law and contempt of the Constitution.

Can you expect those club servants to take the prohibition amendment seriously? Do you think they should be put in jail for doing what they have seen done by the president and a dozen senators, with laughter, and joking as to the merits of bootleggers and the quality of their supplies.

When law and the Constitution are despised by those in power, don't expect to find respect for law or Constitution lower down in the scale.

And, when men that make the laws decide that they may properly violate one law that does not suit them, you may be sure that a new and great body of criminals will arise to defy laws concerning property that they don't like. And, that is exactly what has happened in America.

What is to be done? That is for the lawmakers to say. The people, as you know, have little to say in such cases. They did not even vote on prohibition when it was passed by earnest, sincere men, with the emotion and power of war back of them.

Oscar Palmquist went down with the Titanic. But he came back to the surface, swam for hours in the icy waters, and lived until March 23 last.

His body was found in a shallow pond in Connecticut. He had wandered into the pond and drowned.

That will cause solemn moralizing. "If you're born to be drowned, you'll never be hanged and vice versa," some will say, "swim as hard as you like, the water will get you."

The Turks and millions of other orientals, deeply religious and repentitious will assure you that the day of your death was fixed millions of years before you were born. God knows exactly when you will die and how. Therefore, the hour and manner must have been fixed and manner must have been fixed from all eternity, otherwise God could not know. And, to doubt that he knows all things ahead is impious.

Cold common sense, however, says that Palmquist would not have been drowned had he not wandered into the pond, and would have been drowned when the Titanic sank, had he not been a strong swimmer. This would

THEODORE APPLEGATE, POTTER, DECAPITATED BY Y. & O. TRACTION CAR

Man, Believed to Have Fallen Asleep on Track, is Killed Sunday Morning at "Stone Wall" Stop on Claiborne Avenue, When Motorman Fails to See Him.

DENSE FOG IS PARTLY RESPONSIBLE; "ACCIDENTAL DEATH" CORONER RULES

Harold Cronin, Brother-in-law, Identifies Body by Clothing and Ring Worn by Victim After he is Called to Morgue — $40 Which Man Had is Missing.

Theodore Applegate, 23, pottery worker, of Columbia avenue, was instantly killed when struck by a southbound Youngstown & Ohio River interurban car at the "Stone Wall" stop on Claiborne avenue, at 7:15 o'clock Spnday morning. His head was severed from his body.

Coroner J. M. Van Fossan, East Palestine, following an inquest Sunday afternoon, returned a verdict of "death by electric street car accident."

The supposition is that young Applegate was waiting for a Y. & O. car at the "Stone Wall" stop and fell asleep on the tracks early Sunday morning, his head resting on one of the rails and his body lying outside the tracks. Motorman Paul Farmer, in charge of the car—the first car due in East Liverpool on Sunday morning—said that he failed to see the man until within a few feet of him because of a heavy fog. He applied his brakes and reversed his power, but was unable to stop the car until both the front and rear trucks had passed over Applegate's head. Applegate's features were crushed beyond recognition.

Seek Victim's Companions.

Conductor Benjamin Miller, Leetonia, notified the Miller undertaking establishment of the tragedy immediately upon the arrival of the car in the Diamond and an ambulance was sent to bring the body to the morgue.

Nothing was found in the victim's clothes which would serve to identify him. He was recognized by Clarence E. West at 10:30 o'clock Sunday morning, and West immediately notified his brother-in-daw, Harold Cronin. Cronin identified the young man by his clothing and also by a ring which he wore.

According to Cronin, Applegate had about $40 in his possession when he left his home Saturday afternoon, and when his body was found Sunday morning he was without a penny. An effort is being made by the young man's father, William Applegate, of Erie street, and other relatives to locate friends of the victim who might have been with him Saturday night.

Funeral Services Tuesday.

Applegate left the home of his sister, Mrs. Harold Cronin, Columbia avenue, where he has resided for the last three years, at noon Saturday, stating that he was going to East End

C. of C. Directors Take Stand on Taxation Issues

Directors of the chamber of commerce favor the recommendations made by a committee from the United States Chamber of Commerce, relative to inheritance taxes and co-ordination of national and state taxation.

The proposition, offered in the form of a referendum, in which every chamber of commerce in the United States will express its opinion, is under three heads. The first recommendation is that the federal government should refrain from imposing estate or inheritance taxes; second, that the estate tax now levied by the federal government should be repealed and third, that there should be an organization of representatives of the states and of the federal government to coordinate national and state systems of taxation.

Another referendum, covering the advisory committee's report on the powers of national banks, submitted by the United States chamber, is in the hands of the local chamber, but will not be voted upon until the merits of the question at issue have been investigated.

WOOSTER WOMAN CHARGED WITH KILLING BABY IS HELD SANE

State Bureau Rules Mrs. Blanche Tobias Must Face Court.

STRANGLED TOT

Prisoner, However, Has Subnormal Mentality, is Decision.

WOOSTER, O., April 27.—Mrs. Blanche Tobias will be placed on trial for murder in the second degree following her return here from Columbus, Assistant Prosecutor Walter J. Mougey stated today.

"The time of her trial will depend upon other court assignments," Moughey said, but added that it probably would be within a month.

Mrs. Tobias was indicted for murder in the first degree in connection with the strangling of her infant babe, "because it wouldn't have a chance." The charge was reduced to second degree murder by Prosecutor J. O. Fritz, in order to simplify the empaneling of a jury.

COLUMBUS, April 27.—That Mrs. Blanche Tobias, Wayne county, under indictment on the charge of strangling to death her six weeks' old baby, is sane is the decision announced here today. The statement was made by officials of the state bureau of juvenile research in whose custody Mrs. Tobias has been for a number of weeks. She is to be returned to Wayne county this week and will again be placed in charge of county authorities there, it was announced.

Mrs. Tobias' mental condition has been under close observation by state officials in pursuance of instructions issued by Judge Starr, Wooster. It was stated that officials of the bureau will report to Judge Starr that, although she has a subnormal mentality, Mrs. Togias is not insane.

FARMER SLAIN; FRIEND ACCUSED

CHARDON, April 27.—Six months ago Joseph Morgan, 71, and Julius Franleigh, 66, were neighbors and friends. Today Morgan is held in the Geauga county jail charged with the murder of Franleigh, and the latter's body has been found with a bullet in his spine and another in his heart.

The quarrel over a property line which severed the aged men's friendship last November culminated Sunday afternoon in a rough and tumble fight in a road near their home, during which Morgan is alleged to have shot Franleigh. Morgan was arrested shortly afterwards as he wandered, dazed, along a railroad track five blocks from the scene. His body was covered with bruises, authorities say.

Several times during the quarrel, witnesses say, Franleigh, who was the larger of the two, struck Morgan with a club.

Crabbe Declines Donahey Request in Gas Rate Fight

COLUMBUS, April 27.—Attorney General Crabbe today declined the request made by Governor Donahey that attorney general provide counsel to defend the interests of Ohio municipalities in proceedings pending before the state Utilities commission relative to the application of the Logan Gas company for permission to increase gas rates.

The attorney general, in a written reply to the governor, explained that his attitude in this matter is due to the fact that the law decrees the attorney general is council for the commission. Crabbe interpreted the law as barring him from taking sides in a controversy involved in a case considered by the commission.

He was arrested by Patrolman Haley a few minutes after the crash occurred.

Promise Improved Radio Reception In Hot Weather

WASHINGTON, April 27.— Hot weather radio reception is expected to be vastly improved by a tendency of many broadcasting stations throughout the country to employ stronger power to get their programs "over."

The Department of Commerce announced today that five stations are already using 2,000 watts, eight stations 1,500 watts, and 12 1,000 watts, giving them a summer range probably greater than 500 watts in cold weather.

These are: WEAF, New York; KGO, Oakland, Cal.; KFI, Los Angeles; KOA, Denver, Col.; WLW, Cincinnati.

These powerful stations are sufficiently scattered to give operators of tube sets in any locality good results throughout the summer, in the opinion of government experts.

Five persons were injured when a Nash special six touring car, owned by H. H. Mesereau of 212 East Bridge street, Berea, was ditched Sunday afternoon on the Lisbon-Salem road near the store house of the Natural Gas company of West Virginia.

The car, badly wrecked, was towed to a Lisbon garage.

Morris was on his way to Pine Lake to spend the day fishing. He was returned to Lisbon, where his injuries were dressed by Dr. Seward Harris, who also attended the persons injured in the Mesereau car accident.

EUROPE SHOCKED AS GERMANY ELECTS HINDENBURG, AVOWED MILITARIST, AS PRESIDENT; CONCERN FELT FOR DAWES PLAN

BY S. D. WEYER.

BERLIN, April 27.—One half of Germany was dismayed today and the other half was enthusiastically gleeful over the victory which General Paul Von Hindenburg won at the polls yesterday and which makes him president of the republic.

Hindenburg's plurality stood at something over 900,000 in the official tally at noon today.

The official figurges were::

Hindenburg, 14,639,399; Marx, 13,752,244; Thaelmann, 1,931,593; other candidates 21,910.

Hindenburg's election was, in the opinion of all political observers a victory for the monarchy, although they emphasized that the possibility of Germany returning the former Kaiser Wilhelm to power was remote.

Communist Polls Big Vote.

The big vote polled by the Communist candidate, Ernst Thaelmann—once a resident of the United States—was a big surprise. It was the contention, or defense, of the supporters of Dr. Carl Marx, the defeated Republican, that the Communist vote was what brought about the victory of Hindenburg. The Marx froces had believed the Communist vote would go to Marx, and if it had, the 900,000 plurality of Hindenburg would have been cut down to a point where Marx would have been the victor.

Now that Hindenburg, an avowed militarist, the Marx forces declare, is elected to the presidency, Germany has turned its attention to the one great question which is in the minds of everybody:

"What will France do?"

The Marx followers made no attempt to deny that they believed that the revival of Hindenburg also meant the revival of the time honored "goose-step" and other allurements of German militarism. The Hindenburg supporters said his election meant only a greater regard for the progress of Germany through more definite negotiations with the Allies.

Hindenburg is expected to take office about May 15. It will be that time before all of the official documents and attendant details of the election are completed, it was said. The present cabinet will within a few days offer its resignation to Hindenburg and he will ask it to remain in office for the time being, it was said.

Hindenburg received the news at the estate of a friend near Luneburg. He will come to Berlin Thursday and prepare to take office, his friends said.

Elaborate preparations were being made in Berlin for a triumphal entry of the former field marshal, but it was said that Hindenburg would discourage such ostentation and come quietly, and, if possible, unnoticed into the city.

If the present plans go through, Hindenburg will take the oath of office in the reichstag May 5. The term is for seven years.

Labor Supports Victor.

A feature of the big vote Hindenburg polled, and somewhat of a surprise, was that cast for him in the labor and industrial centers.

The Nationalist newspapers warned the Nationalists against a "premature jubilee." They said "the work of recovery was only begun."

The Democratic papers were trying to appear good losers. They said "sentimentality won over political sense." The Tageblatt laid Hindenburg's victory to "the unshakeble popularity of the former field marshal and the Communist hatred of the Socialists." The Rote Fahne, freely translated red flag—said "the victory was due to the Socialists' treason." The Deuzeitung quoted Hindenburg's words:

"My two hands for the fatherland, and they may be hacked off, but nothing for the parties." The paper added its own comment:

"God did not forsake Germany this time."

Hindenburg Triumph Causes Confusion.

LONDON, April 27.—European politics have been thrown into the greatest confusion by the election of General Paul Von Hindenburg as president of the German Republic, diplomatic circles agreed today.

Great Britain was shocked and baffled by the Hindenburg triumph in some quarters concern was felt for the Dawes plan through which the Allies are collecting from Germany reparations for the great war.

It would be easy, political observers emphasized, for Germany to sabotage the Dawes plan through one subterfuge or another. The easiest method

"I Will Not Take Orders From Any Party"—Hindenburg

LUNEBURG, Germany, April 27.—"I will not take orders from any party, and no one need think I will," declared President-elect Paul Von Hindenburg today in commenting on his election.

"I am willing to grasp the hand of any German, including my former opponents, and I will grasp it heartily and without reserve in the common work for the good of our country."

be too dull if everything were fixed for us in advance. And if, as the Turks believe, all is settled in advance and Allam and Mohammed, between them, know everything, each man's fate and destination after death, must be settled in advance. In that case, why struggle to reach Mohammed's paradise? Struggling would not do any good, if you're stentenced before you're born.

Edsel Ford, writing in The Nation's Business, published by the United States chamber of commerce, forsees a production of aircraft for all the people on a scale comparable with the present automobile production.

Speaking for himself and his father, Henry Ford, Ford discusses "air sedans" and cheap flying cars within the people's reach.

These predictions are encouraging. It is not the habit of the Fords to predict unless they know, or to indulge in vague surmises.

If Henry Ford and Edsel Ford predict a sky full of airplanes, they will manage to provide those airplanes.

This writer, some weeks ago saw the first all-metal Ford plane, in the Ford factory, shining like silver, light as paper, strong as steel, made of duralumin, 95 per cent aluminum, four per cent copper, two per cent of other alloy. That machine is now flying and impervious to the weather it can be left out of doors, anchored to the ground, no hangar necessary.

It will carry 12 passengers or a ton of freight. And, in two hours it can be changed to a bomb dropping machine, should foolish foreigners come to disturb its peaceful uses.

A short time, and our airplane problem will be solved. Thanks for that.

On motoring tours, throughout the United States, seeing America first, and seeing America in the most comfortable, satisfactory way, Americans will spend this year $2,500,000,000.

DROPS WHISKY, MAKES GETAWAY

Constable Wherry Loses Race Against Automobile.

Constable F. P. Wherry today was on the look-out for a man suspected of transporting liquor, who eluded arrest after a long chase early last evening.

Wherry received a call from a party living near the East End car barns at 5 o'clock Sunday evening, asking that he investigate the strange actions of two men who had stopped at a home back of the car barns.

As Wherry approached the house, he noticed a man seated in an automobile. When the stranger say Wherry, he is said to have thrown a pint bottle of corn whisky from the car to the road, but the bottle failed to break. While the constable was recovering the bottle, the man in the car drove away. Wherry gave chase, but the motorist was soon lost to view.

Europe Shocked

would be for Germany to hold that the increasing demands of France were not possible of fulfillment.

France, England expects, will in all likelihood refuse longer to accept Germany's promise that it will remain on a peace footing. France, it was said, probably will ask for specific guarantees for its security.

Diplomats are looking to Great Britain to become mediator between the two traditional enemies. Diplomats said they were apprehensive, however, that Poland and Ceecho-Slovakia would be drawn into the political maelstrom which would make it exceedingly difficult for England to remain in a strictly neutral position.

London Not Alarmed.

The British foreign office comment on the Hindenburg election was:

"The closeness of the vote in Germany shows the country is fairly evenly divided. It is unlikely Hindenburg will attempt any steps of a radical nature.

"It is the view of British experts that the same sentiments which elected President Coolidge and Baldwin (premier of England)—also elected Hindenburg.

"The foreign office does not believe the Dawes' plan or the security pact will be affected."

France's Attitude.

PARIS, April 27.—So far as France is concerned Former Field Marshal Von Hindenburg still is "war prisoner number 237," the French foreign office pointed out today in commenting on Hindenburg's victory in the German presidential election.

The foreign office said it "did not intend to take any action whatsoever," but under the Versailles treaty Hindenburg still must remain as listed there.

The foreign office considers Hindenburg's election "reveals the real spirit of Germany and facilitates France's task" and that France "can now count on the aid of England and America to carry out rigorous disarmament and other clauses of the Versailles treaty."

The election, the foreign office asserted, also will greatly aid the ambassadors' council in reaching a decision this week. The council has before it the report of the military control claim which is said to show that Germany has not returned to a full peace basis.

Mixed Emotions in Washington.

WASHINGTON, April 27.—News of the election of Field Marshal Hindenburg to the presidency of Germany was received in Washington with mixed emotions and widely varying opinions today as to the result it will have on world conditions.

It cannot be said that the American government is either pleased or displeased with the outcome of the German election—rather, from the vantage point of 3,500 miles away, it is merely "interested" and somewhat apprehensive over the political developments that are likely to follow within the next six months.

Chief concern is felt here over two aspects of the Von Hindenburg victory (1) the probable effect it will have on Germany's continuing to carry out the Dawes plan, and (2) whether the election of the kaiser's right hand man can be regarded as the first step toward the restoration of the monarchy. Officials said today that time will have to answer both questions.

Borah Is Not Alarmed.

Senator William E. Borah, of Idaho, chairman of the senate foreign relations committee, and perhaps the closest observer of European conditions in Washington, was among those who professed to see no cause for alarm in the Nationalist victory.

"I don't think Von Hindenburg's election needs be regarded as necessarily disturbing," he said.

"There probably will be a recrudence of the Nationalistic spirit in Germany, but if this is directed along the right lines it will be helpful. I believe it will be directed along the right lines.

"There is going to be a lot of talk about Germany arming and getting ready for another war. I do not believe there will be anything of the sort. Germany is disarmed. She could not arm if she wanted to, and I don't believe she wants to. I expect to see a strong effort on the part of Germany to retain her national integrity, both territorially and economically, and I for one hope she may."

The world in general, and Europe in particular, will be better off, Borah believes, with strong, stable Germany, than with a weak and chaotic Germany.

"I think," he continued, "that the world had better proceed on the theory that the German people have the right to elect the man they want."

COLUMBUS, April 27.—First meeting of the special legislative committee charged with revision and codification of state election laws will be held here May 6, secretary of state, Thad H. Brown, announced today. The committee is expected to organize and to discuss policies.

Brown said he expected the committee would seek largely to effect economies in Ohio elections and to weed out discrepancies in the present laws. The question of permanent registration is expected to be discussed.

The secretary of state, as the chief election law enforcing officer, is expected to be named chairman of the committee. Brown's appointments to the committee are: J. C. Hanley, former prosecuting attorney, East Liverpool; H. A. Hirstius, clerk of the board of elections, Cleveland; Ray J. Hillenbrand, member of the board of elections, Cincinnati.

MURDERER PAYS DEATH PENALTY

BELLEFONTE, Pa., April 27.—Michael Soos, 26, a Hungarian paid with his life in the electric chair at Rockview penitentiary this morning for killing his 16-year-old bride of three months in a fit of jealous rage. Soos walked to the chair unflinchingly and without comment.

REPORTS FROM STOCK MARKET

NEW YORK, April 27.—Heaviness and reactionary price movements dominated the stock market in the early trading today. Stocks were pressed for sale in every department of the market, some of the leading industrial and motor shares declining 1 to 2 points in the first period, and only in exceptional cases were stocks strong enough to move against the trend. Declines were heaviest in industrial stocks which moved forward in last week's trading, and in specialty stocks like Commercial Sovents, which displayed conspicuous weakness in recent sessions.

Wall Street's attention was rivited on European developments, the most important of which was election of Von Hindenburg as president of Germany. Bearish traders made this the occasion for the offering of industrial speculative stocks, for which there was not a brick demand. The new German seven per cent. bonds, recently introduced to this market at 92 and which sold as high as 95¼ and closed Saturday at 93½, were also sold heavily and declined 2 points to 91⅝.

BAN AUTO TAG PRICE CUTTING

J. S. Hilbert Receives Instructions From State Official.

Automobile owners, who have not obtained their 1925 license plates, must pay the full year's rate for the balance of the present year.

James S. Hilbert, deputy automobile registrar, today was advised by Clamers Wilson, Columbus, registrar of automobiles, to charge the full year's rate for all pleasure car licenses. This is in keeping with the provisions of House Bill No. 44, enacted by the legislature recently which imposes a tax of two cents per gallon on gasoline. This order affects all motor driven vehicles except commercial machines.

Since the first of April, license plates have been costing 75 per cent of the original fee. The new ruling will not affect license owners who have already purchased their plates at the 25 per cent reduction rate.

Effective January 1, 1926, license plates will be reduced to one half of the present rate.

Armed Posse Tracks Ex-Convict Who Kidnaps 11-Year-Old Girl

"Dead or Alive Instructions Given as 100 Men Search Vermont Mountains for Man and Child.

GRANTVILLE, Vt., April 27.—A posse of 100 armed men, searching for Earl Woodward, 27, ex-convict, and Lucille Chatterton, 11, whom he kidnaped, hurried to the east side of Braintree mountain today when word was received that Woodward and the child had been seen leaving an abandoned farm on the mountain side.

Bring Woodward in "dead or alive" was the instructions given by the sheriff.

Woodward entered the woods armed and provisioned for a two weeks' stay.

The young ex-convict was befriended by the man whose daughter he stole.

Deserting from the navy during World war, Woodward came to the hills here and "enjoyed" himself by shooting at people of the village.

Later he was sent to prison and upon his release he made his home in an abandoned school house. Chatterton and his wife took pity on the young man and gave him a home.

Lucille's father, learning of his daughter's plight, ran to the woods, seeking a trace of Woodward. Without food and without sleep for a day and a night, the frantic father has roved about the woodlands.

Searchers found camps in which Woodward and the child had stayed, but he slipped through the cordon.

An average of more than 9,000 freight cars a day are being loaded in France.

Woman of Forty Victim of Constipation

Mrs. Fannie White of Brooklyn, N. Y., writes:

"Almost every morning, for the last five years I suffered with sick headaches. I felt this was due to nervousness, never dreaming that faulty intestinal elimination caused my suffering. I felt wretched, my appetite was gone, I lost interest in preparing my meals, life was not worth living. A few days' treatment of Carter's Little Liver Pills worked wonders. They are small easy to take—no griping—and leave pleasant after effects." For sale at all druggists.

Colorful Season in Fashiondom

Color, color, lots of it seems to be the by-word in fashions. Note the creations at left and right. In the center is something new in chemises, intended for young girls who adopt the slim, boyish line frocks and coats. It combines a "step in" with a camisole that has a snug fitting brassiere top. This model is made of orchid crepe and ecrue lace.

PERFECT MODEL IS WINTER GARDEN BEAUTY WITH SHUBERT'S PASSING SHOW

At the annual style show at the Grand Central palace, New York city, a prize of $500 was offered by the exhibitors for the best displayed gown and the best model.

A well-known Fifth avenue shop imported from Paris a beautiful black creation that had to be shown on a perfect 36 model, the model to have black bobbed hair, rather tall, and not weigh over 130 pounds. The task was to find the model that could fit, and knowing that the Winter Garden was famous for its beauties, they at once sought out Mr. J. J. Shubert in quest for a model to wear this gown at the style show. After looking over 500 of the Winter Garden girls they selected Miss Alice Wheeler, who is now one of the Winter Garden beauties with "The Passing Show" coming to the Ceramic Tuesday, April 28.

Merchants from all parts of the country are always in New York to attend the style show, and the judgment of the models and gowns has always been left to merchants from out of town, and it was these judges who awarded Miss Wheeler the prize for the most perfect model. When Mr. J. J. Shubert, under whose personal direction Winter Garden shows are produced, heard of Miss Wheeler winning the prize he at once sought out the shop which Miss Wheeler modeled for and purchased the gown, and you will see it in the Passing Show as Miss Wheeler wears it in the number "Eight Best Sellers" in which she represents the famous book, "Damned."

HOUSE OF DAVID BAND IS BOOKED

The House of David band, with its bewhiskered musicians, will be the chief entertainment at the Ceramic theatre the last part of the present week. This unique musical organization that stirs up, perhaps, a few thoughts about a certain so-called "king," does far more than that; it offers a pleasing musical program that is composed of both classical and jazz numbers and one particularly good cornet solo. The fact that the band is composed of members of a religious sect doesn't in the least hinder its members from putting on several rather spicy jazz numbers.

A name that has been handed down for nearly a century as being that of the most noted in the circus world—McKeon. This family bears the distinction of being the pioneers of slack wire performers and this season, the elder son will present his three children and self in one of the most sensational wire acts ever attempted under canvas. They are only one of over fifty feature acts presented on the big two-hour program, which is replete with thrilling aerial acts, acrobats, tumblers, bare back riders, trained horses, ponies, dogs, and domestic animals, clowns—yes, forty of them cavorting at all times to amuse the crowds. Two herds of performing elephants will give exhibitions that seem beyond animal intelligence.

The big free street parade will leave the show grounds at 11 a. m.; afternoon performance starts promptly at 2:15, and the night show at 8:15 p. m., doors opening at 1 and 7 p. m. to permit inspection of the menagerie and enjoy the big band concert.

Monticello

One great national shrine, Mount Vernon, hsa been not only preserved from Revolutionry days but perpetuated as a public memorial. Not far away, in the Virginia hills, is another almost equally famous but still in private hands, fallen into disrepair and burdened with debt. It is Monticello, as intimately associated with Thomas Jefferson as Mount Vernon with George Washington. There is an energetic effort being made to rescue and preserve it as a national monument.

The effort so far centers in New York, where there is a big committee of citizens representing patriotic and educational societies, trades and industries, planning to raise the necessary money and prepare for a great celebration next year. July 4, 1926, will be the 150th anniversary of Jefferson's Declaration of Independence and the 100th anniversary of Jefferson's death.

Monticello was designed and built by Jefferson himself, as was Mount Vernon by Washington. "There were giants in those days." It is a noble reminder of one of the two most conspicuous men of the Revolutionary period, at the same time a statesman, a farmer, a scientist, an architect and an inventor. The plan to save Monticello should be supported in every section, by every class of Americans.

There can be no more fitting memorial to any great man than the home he creates in his maturity, to express himself and fit his own needs. A mere glimpse of the spacious beauty and nobility of homes like the two mentioned gives every succeeding generation new respect and admiration for the "founding fathers."

A Line of Bureaucracy

To a citizen complaining of the government printing office rule that an order for a cheap government bulletin must be accompanied by "postal money order, express order or New York draft," instead of the simple expedient of enclosing five cents in postage stamps, the superintendent writes:

"I fully appreciate your point of view regarding this requirement, but am sure you will realize that we could not advertise the fact that we would accept stamps, for the reason that we would be flooded with quantities that we could not use, and the postoffice department does not redeem them for us."

Which neatly begs the whole question. The question is, why the government printing office and the postoffice department do not get together on so simple a matter as this, and enable citizens to obtain public documents on which there is a charge of only a few cents by sending stamps for them, instead of going to the trouble and expense of getting "postal money order, express order, New York draft."

Here is a striking example of bureaucratic awkwardness, which inconveniences the public without really saving any trouble to the departments concerned. They could handle stamps as well as other forms of payment.

The Three H's

The superintendent of public schools of New Orleans believes that the schools in his community, though having some faults, are fundamentally sound. Instead of the old idea of the three R's, there are now three H's. Modern schools are trying to educate the "head, the heart and the hand.'

In addition to this, he says, school houses are better built in these days, teaching standards are higher, and the teaching profession is more widely respected.

These things, true in New Orleans, are also true in other cities all over the country. There is a growing belief that education must include "head, heart and hand" if character is to be developed along with mental training. The schools may be far from perfect, but educators themselves realize that and are striving earnestly to improve them. The educational ideal is ahead of realization. After all, that is a wholesome fact rather than a discouraging one.

Fishing For Men

"Man-fishing," an ancient sport, has been revived in Bath, England. A swimmer plays fish. He is hooked on top of the head, by means of a helmet and swivel. Then the tussle begins. The fisherman has the usual equipment for catching game fish.

In a test the other day, an experienced angler landed a 150-pound man in seven minutes and a half. The "fish" was a good swimmer. He was "played" with a light, 10-foot rod. At first he reeled out the line at will. But the steady pull soon began to tell on him. Little by little he had to yield, and when hauled in he was exhausted.

It sounds like an interesting sport, well adapted to add zest to American swimming pools and beaches. Many a fisherman, with a man or boy at the end of his line, would have all the sensation of playing a big fish, and learn much of that fine art. The human victim, too, might learn to have a little sympathy with real fish.

If the Pennsylvania railroad wants more names for its freight trains, we offer these: Smoky Queen, Nurmi Special, Flat Wheel Express, Switchback Champion, Royal Bumper, Brake Rod Bender, Percheron Founder, Boss Freight Shaker, Leap Frog, Behemoth and Eats 'Em Alive.

"Boys' Week" begins April 27, and ought to end April 26, next year, just in time to begin another one.

NEW YORK DAY BY DAY

By O. O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK, April 27.—A page from the diary of a modern Samuel Pepys: Early out to breakfast with Ray Rohn, the limner, and to see some circus dogs and had a brave frolic with them. Then home to cast my accounts and labour awhile, very pleasantly too.

This day my wife came to me about the buying of a benzine buggy and I for it and we sat out through town to look at them but Lord! the cost, nor could we settle on a suitable one. So to say farewell to Jay Kaufman against his going to Sicily.

In the evening to the Lotos Club to a dinner to Carl Magee, the editor, who told of his fight against corruption in New Mexico and of his many sentences to prison and spoke bravely. A noble crowd there including Mellville Stone, Bradford Merrill, Will Hays and others. Late to bed.

Broadway hears that Nick the Greek has kept his trust. He is the most spectacular of the plunging gamblers—a squat, blue jowled fellow given to dazzling shirts and scarfs. Not so long ago Nick ran afoul ill fortune and is said to have dropped close to a million dollars. He managed to borrow $20,000 and follow the course of the empire westward. His total indebtedness was $120,000. He seemed lost to the Roaring Gulch. But two weeks ago he took up his I. O. U.'s. He intimated he was "sitting pretty" again. Nobody seems to know. Nick the Greek's real name. Not even his intimates. Yet he is said to have been able at various times to borrow a million dollars on his word alone.

Central Park seems lovelier than ever this spring. For the cliff dwelling Manhattanese this wide open space close to the city's heartbeat is really a hole in the garden wall—wherein one may hide from a city's mad jangle. Just as the farm boy follows the curve of a winding brook in April, so may the city boy laugh with spring as it comes.

There are swans in the lake, blossoms on cherry trees and wisteria-clad cozy corners. The bridle path swarms with caracoling chargers and their gayly habited riders. The balloon women are there with their red, green and yellow toys and the venders with their gimcracks of all sorts for children.

The rented lake skiffs skim over the lake, carrying, strangely enough, sailor boys off on a day's furlough. Arrows painted on the walks chart out beautiful strolls for thes tranger. At eventide when the necklace of lights comes on the park becomes strangely quiet. There is a mysterious hush.

The moon hangs its slight crescent on the sky and there is a soft gravity about the trees and walks turning purple in the haze. It is the magic hour when New York pauses. Friendly benches scattered about hold hand-holding levers. Along the Plaza wall old cabbies, making their last heroic stand against the gasoline god, perch like so many molting sparrows along the curb.

They suck at stub pipes and dream of the days when the world was young—when New York bloods in high toppers drove in smart four-wheelers drawn by spanking bays to the old Astor House bar for the evening aperitif. Across in Fifth Avenue homes light spring up. "Buttons" from the fashionable hotels air the prize winning kiyoodies.

There is a bright young man at the news-stand of the Grand Central station. He somehow contrives to find the names of regular customers nad thus addresses them. As a result of this enterprise he has already been offered several worth while jobs.

Jazz has bought the finest ranch in Colorado. Paul Whiteman is the buyer. After five years on Broadway, Paul is looking forward to the time when he can say: "Broadway? Oh, yes, I seem to remember that place."

HASKIN'S LETTER

BY FREDERIC J. HASKIN

The Cost of Bread.

WASHINGTON, D. C., April 27.—The baking industry of the country is greatly excited over the charges that are being made to the effect that there is an unreasonable margin of profit in the price the consumer must pay for a loaf of baker's bread. These charges are being widely disseminated and leading bakers are fearful that their business will be given an ugly black eye if the real facts are not brought before the public.

If congress were in session it is probable that an investigation would be asked, and it is quite possible that it will come to that when the national law-making body assembles next December. Meanwhile, however, the bakers hasten to deny with all emphasis and vigor that they are profiteers.

Briefly stated the indictment against the bakers is this: The federal government at commissaries and supply depots operated for the army sells bread "at cost" to persons employed in strictly governmental activities who are allowed the privilege of purchasing food and some other commodities on a cost basis. The price of this bread is uniformly two cents a loaf, which means that the commercial baker and retailer who is

EVEN the little injuries can lead to great trouble. If you cut or break the skin, microbes often get in; and if they do, they usually cause dangerous inflammation.

Take care of the cuts, burns, scrapes, blisters, etc. Cleanse them well—then apply Resinol Ointment. It will stop the smarting at once and start the healing right. Its soothing medication helps nature to fight germ invasion, and close the wound in a healthy way.

Resinol Soap has the same soothing qualities which help it to thoroughly cleanse and preserve the skin at the same time. Ideal for the complexion and bath.

Monticello

One great national shrine, Mount Vernon, hsa been not only preserved from Revolutionry days but perpetuated as a public memorial. Not far away, in the Virginia hills, is another almost equally famous but still in private hands, fallen into disrepair and burdened with debt. It is Monticello, as intimately associated with Thomas Jefferson as Mount Vernon with George Washington. There is an energetic effort being made to rescue and preserve it as a national monument.

The effort so far centers in New York, where there is a big committee of citizens representing patriotic and educational societies, trades and industries, planning to raise the necessary money and prepare for a great celebration next year. July 4, 1926, will be the 150th anniversary of Jefferson's Declaration of Independence and the 100th anniversary of Jefferson's death.

Monticello was designed and built by Jefferson himself, as was Mount Vernon by Washington. "There were giants in those days." It is a noble reminder of one of the two most conspicuous men of the Revolutionary period, at the same time a statesman, a farmer, a scientist, an architect and an inventor. The plan to save Monticello should be supported in every section, by every class of Americans.

There can be no more fitting memorial to any great man than the home he creates in his maturity, to express himself and fit his own needs. A mere glimpse of the spacious beauty and nobility of homes like the two mentioned gives every succeeding generation new respect and admiration for the "founding fathers."

A Line of Bureaucracy

To a citizen complaining of the government printing office rule that an order for a cheap government bulletin must be accompanied by "postal money order, express order or New York draft," instead of the simple expedient of enclosing five cents in postage stamps, the superintendent writes:

"I fully appreciate your point of view regarding this requirement, but am sure you will realize that we could not advertise the fact that we would accept stamps, for the reason that we would be flooded with quantities that we could not use, and the postoffice department does not redeem them for us."

Which neatly begs the whole question. The question is, why the government printing office and the postoffice department do not get together on so simple a matter as this, and enable citizens to obtain public documents on which there is a charge of only a few cents by sending stamps for them, instead of going to the trouble and expense of getting "postal money order, express order, New York draft."

Here is a striking example of bureaucratic awkwardness, which inconveniences the public without really saving any trouble to the departments concerned. They could handle stamps as well as other forms of payment.

The Three H's

The superintendent of public schools of New Orleans believes that the schools in his community, though having some faults, are fundamentally sound. Instead of the old idea of the three R's, there are now three H's. Modern schools are trying to educate the "head, the heart and the hand.'

In addition to this, he says, school houses are better built in these days, teaching standards are higher, and the teaching profession is more widely respected.

These things, true in New Orleans, are also true in other cities all over the country. There is a growing belief that education must include "head, heart and hand" if character is to be developed along with mental training. The schools may be far from perfect, but educators themselves realize that and are striving earnestly to improve them. The educational ideal is ahead of realization. After all, that is a wholesome fact rather than a discouraging one.

Fishing For Men

"Man-fishing," an ancient sport, has been revived in Bath, England. A swimmer plays fish. He is hooked on top of the head, by means of a helmet and swivel. Then the tussle begins. The fisherman has the usual equipment for catching game fish.

In a test the other day, an experienced angler landed a 150-pound man in seven minutes and a half. The "fish" was a good swimmer. He was "played" with a light, 10-foot rod. At first he reeled out the line at will. But the steady pull soon began to tell on him. Little by little he had to yield, and when hauled in he was exhausted.

It sounds like an interesting sport, well adapted to add zest to American swimming pools and beaches. Many a fisherman, with a man or boy at the end of his line, would have all the sensation of playing a big fish, and learn much of that fine art. The human victim, too, might learn to have a little sympathy with real fish.

If the Pennsylvania railroad wants more names for its freight trains, we offer these: Smoky Queen, Nurmi Special, Flat Wheel Express, Switchback Champion, Royal Bumper, Brake Rod Bender, Percheron Founder, Boss Freight Shaker, Leap Frog, Behemoth and Eats 'Em Alive.

"Boys' Week" begins April 27, and ought to end April 26, next year, just in time to begin another one.

NEW YORK DAY BY DAY

By O. O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK, April 27.—A page from the diary of a modern Samuel Pepys: Early out to breakfast with Ray Rohn, the limner, and to see some circus dogs and had a brave frolic with them. Then home to cast my accounts and labour awhile, very pleasantly too.

This day my wife came to me about the buying of a benzine buggy and I for it and we sat out through town to look at them but Lord! the cost, nor could we settle on a suitable one. So to say farewell to Jay Kaufman against his going to Sicily.

In the evening to the Lotos Club to a dinner to Carl Magee, the editor, who told of his fight against corruption in New Mexico and of his many sentences to prison and spoke bravely. A noble crowd there including Mellville Stone, Bradford Merrill, Will Hays and others. Late to bed.

Broadway hears that Nick the Greek has kept his trust. He is the most spectacular of the plunging gamblers—a squat, blue jowled fellow given to dazzling shirts and scarfs. Not so long ago Nick ran afoul ill fortune and is said to have dropped close to a million dollars. He managed to borrow $20,000 and follow the course of the empire westward. His total indebtedness was $120,000. He seemed lost to the Roaring Gulch. But two weeks ago he took up his I. O. U.'s. He intimated he was "sitting pretty" again. Nobody seems to know. Nick the Greek's real name. Not even his intimates. Yet he is said to have been able at various times to borrow a million dollars on his word alone.

Central Park seems lovelier than ever this spring. For the cliff dwelling Manhattanese this wide open space close to the city's heartbeat is really a hole in the garden wall—wherein one may hide from a city's mad jangle. Just as the farm boy follows the curve of a winding brook in April, so may the city boy laugh with spring as it comes.

There are swans in the lake, blossoms on cherry trees and wisteria-clad cozy corners. The bridle path swarms with caracoling chargers and their gayly habited riders. The balloon women are there with their red, green and yellow toys and the venders with their gimcracks of all sorts for children.

The rented lake skiffs skim over the lake, carrying, strangely enough, sailor boys off on a day's furlough. Arrows painted on the walks chart out beautiful strolls for thes tranger. At eventide when the necklace of lights comes on the park becomes strangely quiet. There is a mysterious hush.

The moon hangs its slight crescent on the sky and there is a soft gravity about the trees and walks turning purple in the haze. It is the magic hour when New York pauses. Friendly benches scattered about hold hand-holding levers. Along the Plaza wall old cabbies, making their last heroic stand against the gasoline god, perch like so many molting sparrows along the curb.

They suck at stub pipes and dream of the days when the world was young—when New York bloods in high toppers drove in smart four-wheelers drawn by spanking bays to the old Astor House bar for the evening aperitif. Across in Fifth Avenue homes light spring up. "Buttons" from the fashionable hotels air the prize winning kiyoodies.

There is a bright young man at the news-stand of the Grand Central station. He somehow contrives to find the names of regular customers and thus addresses them. As a result of this enterprise he has already been offered several worth while jobs.

Jazz has bought the finest ranch in Colorado. Paul Whiteman is the buyer. After five years on Broadway, Paul is looking forward to the time when he can say: "Broadway? Oh, yes, I seem to remember that place."

HASKIN'S LETTER

BY FREDERIC J. HASKIN

The Cost of Bread.

WASHINGTON, D. C., April 27.—The baking industry of the country is greatly excited over the charges that are being made to the effect that there is an unreasonable margin of profit in the price the consumer must pay for a loaf of baker's bread. These charges are being widely disseminated and leading bakers are fearful that their business will be given an ugly black eye if the real facts are not brought before the public.

If congress were in session it is probable that an investigation would be asked, and it is quite possible that it will come to that when the national law-making body assembles next December. Meanwhile, however, the bakers hasten to deny with all emphasis and vigor that they are profiteers.

Briefly stated the indictment against the bakers is this: The federal government at commissaries and supply depots operated for the army sells bread "at cost" to persons employed in strictly governmental activities who are allowed the privilege of purchasing food and some other commodities on a cost basis. The price of this bread is uniformly two cents a loaf, which means that the commercial baker and retailer who is

Musterole is easy to apply and it gets in its good work right away. Often it prevents a cold from turning into "flu" or pneumonia. Just apply Musterole with the fingers. It does all the good work of grandmother's mustard plaster without the blister.

Musterole is a clean, white ointment, made of oil of mustard and other home simples. It is recommended by many doctors and nurses. Try Musterole for sore throat, cold on the chest, rheumatism, lumbago, pleurisy, stiff neck, bronchitis, asthma, neuralgia, congestion, pains and aches of the back and joints, sprains, sore muscles, bruises, chilblains, frosted feet—colds of all sorts.

To Mothers: Musterole is now made in milder form for babies and small children. Ask for Children's Musterole.

35c and 65c, jars and tubes; hospital size, $3.00.

Beware infection

A break in the skin is dangerous

EVEN the little injuries can lead to great trouble. If you cut or break the skin, microbes often get in; and if they do, they usually cause dangerous inflammation.

Take care of the cuts, burns, scrapes, blisters, etc. Cleanse them well—then apply Resinol Ointment. It will stop the smarting at once and start the healing right. Its soothing medication helps nature to fight germ invasion, and close the wound in a healthy way.

Resinol Soap has the same soothing qualities which help it to thoroughly cleanse and preserve the skin at the same time. Ideal for the complexion and bath.

Haskin's Letter

Stated even more briefly the answer of the bakers to this indictment is that it isn't true.

Henry Ford, through his magazine, was one of the first to sponsor the profiteering charge against those who produce the nation's daily bread and he suggested that one of the country's greatest needs is more bakeries like the army has. Selling bread at cost and holding that cost down to two cents a loaf struck Mr. Ford as one of the finest examples of social efficiency that had ever come under his observation.

Later a Boston publication took the matter up, saying that when bread prices were advanced during the war a consumers generall assumed that when the war emergency was over the former price level would be established.

Five Cents a Fair Price.

"Five cents was regarded as a fair price for bread," says this critic of the baking industry, "it being assumed that the difference between that price and the actual cost of production would afford a reasonable profit for the baker and the middleman. But the former schedules have not been re-established. It seems difficult, once a commodity has been advanced, to restore it to its original economic status. It is realized, of course, that the overhead cost of production and distribution has been greatly increased, but the fact remains that the price of bread is not fixed upon the basis of its cost so much as by what can be obtained for it."

It is pointed out that people who were reared on farms or in small villaves and those now enjoying rural advantages will recall readily the day when the cost of a loaf of bread was so small as to be insignificant. Flour made from wheat grown on the farm, mixed with milg from the farm dairy and baked by heat produced from wood which cost nothing more than the labor of preparing it gave the farmer his loaf of bread at a cost not to exceed one cent.

It is not suggested that city bakers can turn out bread at any such cost, but it is contended that there is no justification for a retail price of bread that is 10, 12 or even 15 times the estimated original cost of the farm-produced loaf. Then when the government undertakes to sell bread at cost and fixes the price at two cents a loaf it is taken for granted that a clear case has been made out against the producers of the staff of life, and that their profit is or could be if they were as efficient as the government a matter of 500 or 600 per cent.

Defenders of the bakers do not say what the cost of a loaf of bread is to them, but they do insist that the margin of profit is exceedingly small. The state of Wisconsin started out boldly, they say, to find bakery pillage, and found the profits to be from one-fourth to one-half a per cent a pound on bread, with a single exception where the baker had a profit of nearly one cent.

Why Uncle Sam's Cost Is Low.

I. K. Russell, a former Washington correspondent, now editor of the official organ of the baking industry, says that the explanation of Uncle Sam's low cost is a simple one because the only item considered is the price of flour in car-load lots.

Army bread, according to Mr. Russell, is baked by a baker on an army salary, not a cent of which comes from the baked product or is included in the computed "cost," the baker's assistants all get only their army pay, the bakery is furnished free, fully machined and fully manned, and stands on tax-free ground, relieved from all official supervision and license fees.

In other words, army bread is produced without any labor cost, without any overhead expense, and without any capital charges, and when it is sold at two cents a loaf that price does not include any selling or distribution cost.

"In Chicago is the chief flour buying center for the army and also the school of subsistence where the books are kept on army costs," says Mr. Russell. "Major Robert Littlejohn, a remarkably intelligent and alert officer, is in command. We have a school of baking and our instructors frequently lecture at the army school, while theirs lecture at ours. Major Littlejohn explains the bread cost business in a way that ought to appeal to all fair-minded and reasonable people.

"He says that in the army they have many accounts. One of them is for flour. The factors of a soldier's ration are divided according to the total amount of cash allowed per day per ration. In the system of bookkeeping that brings the cost of bread out at two cents per loaf nothing whatever is counted but the car-load price of the flour from which it is made and the elittle bit of yeast used. Cash is paid out for the flour and this is checked off to the soldier to whom that flour is issued in the form of baked bread."

The bakery is built by the quartermaster and maintained by him, none of this expense being figured into the bread cost. Similarly as to personnel, no service is hired that is chargeable to the bakery. The hired hands are soldiers and they work for their pay as soldiers. If one of them is not on the job for any reason the enlisted personnel supplies another at once and there is no employment of labor turnover expense.

"It is needless to add more," says Mr. Russell. "The beneficiaries of the army bread price do not carry the sustaining costs of baking and delivering bread. Under similar conditions the baker would be baking bread in a way that violates all American methods. The state and city would provide land, tax free and delivery wagons, price free. They would build and provide bakeries and equip them instead of sending around a young army of license collectors, labor inspectors, sanitary inspectors and what not, to get free board, among other things, off industry. The baker would have nothing to do but count the loaves as made and draw his salary from a public fund outside the shop."

However, all this controversy, interesting and important as it may well be to the consuming public, has not settled the debated point—hat does it actually cost the average city baker to produce the loaf of bread that retails at 10, 12 or 15 cents?

New Labor Newspaper Takes Sharp Fling At British Royalty

LONDON, Apr.—A new Labor newspaper, published on Sundays, entitled, "The Sunday Worker," has just appeared in England. It states its object thus:

"To fight the battle of the working class and of the working class alone. We shall have no truck with manufacturers, bankers or landlords. We shall not shake hands with royalty.

"We shall make no apologies for the oppression of colonial workers, whether white, brown, black or yellow. Our columns will be freely open to everyone on the side of the workers in the class struggle and are prepared to stay on that side to the bitter end."

TOWNSHIP ROADS MAY BE IMPROVED

Supervisters Gibbs and Donoldson of Chippewa township and Attorney A. G. Heibling conferred recently with the Beaver county commissioners at their offices in Beaver on the improvement of certain township roads. It is proposed by the spervisors to improve by slagging some of the township road and petition for state aid.

The supervistors may also ask the improvement of the Blackhawk road with concrete. This is an important township road and reaches a wealthy agricultural section of the county. One plan suggested some time ago was for the improvement of this road to Blackhawk and thence to Fairview where it would connect with the Tuscarawas road. The improvement of the Tuscarawas road from Beaver through Brighton and Ohio townships is also being considered.

This would reduce the distance considerably from points north of Beaver Falls to East Liverpool and other Ohio towns.

Queen Guards Gifts To Peasant Child Living Near Turin

TURIN, Italy, April—A little peasant girl living near here receives each week a package of candies and cakes from no less a personage than Queen Elena, simply because the innocent beauty of the maiden attracted Her Majesty while on a visit to the Princess Yolanda in her home at Pinerolo. Meeting the little girl, the Queen asked her if she knew how to sew. The child replied that she could knit, and the Queen, revealing her identity, asked the little girl to knit a pair of stockings for her and send them to the palace in Turin.

Upon their receipt the Queen sent the little girl a pair of silk stockings, one of which contained sweets and the other money. A few days later the Queen received a plaintive note from the child in which she said the present had caused may tears, as "my father took the money, my brother the candies, and my mother the stockings.

Ever since then a messenger brings a package of dainties every week and stands guard while the little girl enjoys them, to be sure she is not robbed of her property.

Farm House Razed.

The blaze started from a defective chimney. Insurance totaled $1,500 on house and contents.

HIGH BALL TEAM GIVEN DEFEATS

Coach Kidder's Charges Lose to Weirton, New Cumberland.

Newell high school baseball team dropped two games here during the week-end to rival county tossers, losing to Weirton on Friday afternoon by a score of 15 to 4, and dropping another contest Saturday afternoon to New Cumberland, score 10 to 5.

Watson, who twirled against Weirton, was in good form, striking out 15 of the Steel City batters, but his support crumbled at critical stages and the visitors piled up a large score. Drum hurled against the county seaters and while effective at times was hit hard when runs counted for his opponents.

Coach Kidder is trying to arrange a game for this week with the Chester team.

Weak Women Should Read This

Men do not understand why women are so subject to occasional weakness and often real illness. The housewife often forces herself to go through a day's work when if her husband felt as miserable he would be in bed with the doctor at his bedside.

Much of this suffering is entirely unnecessary. A great deal of it is due to catarrh in the system—quite often unknown. The same mucus membane as exists in the nose and throat lines all other cavities of the body and is subject to the same catarrh, with all its weakening effect.

Women Have Approved

The manufacturers of World's Tonic have many grateful letters from women who through the use of this remarkable medicine have been relieved of this weakness, and have gained strength to attend to their duties cheerfully and well.

Women who suffer will find it a great friend. It can be obtained at all bodily functions and restores vigor and strength.

Whomen who suffer will find it a great friend. It can be obtained at Carnahans, also Brannan's, Wellsville, and other good druggists.

Bebe Scores Hit As Comedienne in Picture at Ceramic

Bebe Daniels comes to the Ceramic theatre today and Wednesday as the star of the Paramount picture, "Miss Bluebeard," directed by Frank Tuttle—a picturization of the Broadway stage play, "Little Miss Bluebeard," by Avery Hopwood.

The screen play, by Townsend Martin, deals with a series of matrimonial adventures and gives Miss Daniels a fine opportunitly to display her talent as a comedienne.

Bebe's role in the picture is one of a French actress. She goes to London on a holiday and, through a series of most amusing incidents enroute, she arrives there the wife of two men.

This piquant situation and the complications that follow are said to provide the volatile Bebe with an excellent opportunity for her comedy talents. The fun, while at all times clean and wholesome, is declared to be practically continuous. The stage play made from the same story, in which Irene Bordoni starred, scored a big success both on Broadway and on the road, arguing well for the picture.

Playing in support of Bebe in "Miss Bluebeard" are Raymond Griffith, one of the screen's foremost character comedians; Robert Frazer, leading man; Kenneth MacKenna and others.

HEADACHES VANISH, STOMACH IMPROVES

Martins Ferry, Ohio, Housewife, Relieved from Distressing Ailments by Ka-di-ok in Very Short Time

MRS. JUNE RICE,
Martins Ferry, O.

Mrs. June Rice, 808 South Fourth street, Martins Ferry, O., a former resident of Wheeling, W. Va., has an interesting experience to relate with reference to Ka-di-ok, the wonderful stomach tonic and system builder. For nearly a year Mrs. Rice was a sufferer from stomach weakness and nervous breakdown, and could get no relief until she procured Ka-di-ok and began a course of treatment with that great medicine. Recently, talking to the Ka-di-ok representative, she stated that all her troubles had quickly subsided through use of that medicine, and she is gaining in weight. Where formerly she suffered considerably from gas pains, those have left her, and her condition of health is now satisfactory.

SCHOOL DAYS By Dwig

Rural School Children Participate in Annual Event.

These five words, picnicking, pinafore, supersede, frolicking and accede proved stumbling blocks in the path of Newell Pottorff, of Highland school, Salem township, and Otis Stouffer, of Bridgewater school, Knox township, when these two young men traveled together through four rounds of spelling during the annual county spelling contest in the David Anderson high school last Saturday. These children were entered in the seventh-eighth grade contest, and four lists of words had to be pronounced before the first and second place winners were determined.

In this class there were four 100's in the first test. A second list brought out three ties of 96. The third test brought out three 100's and the fourth test of 10 words gave Newell Pottorff first prize money of $5 with a grade of 80 per cent and Otis Stouffer second prize money of $2.50 and a grade of 60 per cent. The former missed the two words supersede and accede, while Stouffer got twisted on the words picnicking, pinafore, supersede and frolicking.

While two boys won the seventh-eighth grade contest, two girls won in the fifth-sixth grade contest, these being Gertrude Grove, of Mill school, Knox township, who came through three lists of words with 100 per cent in each, and Mary Katherine Shockley, of Fairfield Centralized, with 96 per cent on the third and last test.

In this fifth-sixth contest there were 17 ties for first honors in the first list of words pronounced. In the second list of words there were 15 who came through with clean sheets. These 15 children were then given a third list of words, and 13 "fell down," leaving the first and second place winners.

There were 92 children taking part in the contest, 4 in the fifth-sixth grade and 48 in the seventh-eighth.

Superintendent W. H. Geiger, of the Lisbon schools, pronounced the words.

Superintendent Jansen, of the Salineville schools, and Miss Esterlt, a teacher from Columbiana, were the judges in the fifth-sixth grade contest, while E. P. Stonebraker, of Leetonia, and Mrs. Page were the judges in the seventh-eighth grade contest.

East Liverpool Seeks Berth In New National Pro Cage League

Plans For 12-Club Circuit Drawn Up At Cleveland Meet

Organization of Ceramic City Enterprise in Hands of Frank Allison, Noted Floor Star of 1903-'04; Greatest Players in Country Will be Enrolled by Teams in Circuit.

Resurrected from the shadows of more than 20 years ago when the name of East Liverpool was emblazoned on the sport scroll from coast to coast as one of the greatest basketball teams of the country, the great fall and winter indoor sport, played in a professional way with the greatest clubs of the country in action, is coming back to the Ceramic City.

East Liverpool, barring unforseen occurrances, will be represented in the American Basketball League, a national organization of professional players, equal in rank in their own sport to the national leaguers of baseball, during 1925-26 and indefinitely afterwards.

Frank Allison, member of the old East Liverpool combine that pioneered basketball in the Buckeye state, is the prime mover in the league for the East Liverpool contingent.

Allison knows basketball and basketball players from A to Z and then some.

For more than 20 years, or since the days of 1903-'04, he has been away from East Liverpool, mostly in the East. Recently he was called to East Liverpool by the death of his mother. He was on the inside of the National basketball loop then in the early formulative stages, and consequently, was at the ringside when preliminary plans were drawn up Saturday at a meeting in the Hotel Statler, Cleveland, with Max Rosenblum, Cleveland sport enthusiast, as host.

Allison has his plans for presenting basketball in this city well mapped out and is confident that he can carry them along to maturity. If he is successful, and there is every reason to believe he will be, the city will witness one of the greatest sport revivals in its history.

Joseph F. Carr, Columbus, who organized the National Football league, is the organizer of the new sport circuit. He was elected its president and secretary. Members of the executive committee are Max Rosenblum of Cleveland, George Marshall of Washington and George Halas of Chicago.

It was decided to limit the number of members of the league to 12.

Max Rosenblum, backer of the Rosies, was host to the visiting basketball delegates and made a number of recommendations to the assembled delegates regarding fairness in operation and cleanliness in play. His sentiments were heartily indorsed by the delegates.

Complete organization of this new cage circuit is planned by June 1, under an agreement reached at the meeting. Delegates present were asked to file application for membership, each application to be accompanied by $100 as a guarantee of good faith in carrying out the regulations of the new loop.

Each club asking for membership was given until May 15 to determine finally if it would take up a franchise if acceptable to the executive committee. The executive committee was given power to decide what towns shall be awarded franchises.

The cost of membership in the league to charter members was set at $1,000, which must be paid by June 1 by teams accepted. This will give the new league a treasury of $12,000 as early as June 1, and the remainder of the summer in which to prepare for the opening of the season.

Teams filing application for membership and turning over their $100 immediately were: Cleveland, Rosenblums, Canton, East Liverpool, Columbus, Milwaukee, Boston, Chicago, Ft. Wayne K. of C.; Pulaski Post of Detroit; Rochester Centrals; Baltimore and Washington Palace club.

President Carr, who has organized baseball and football leagues, said that in his long experience he never has obtained such hearty support and indorsement at a first meeting. It was the opinion of delegates that the time is here for the formation of this league and the prediction was made the new circuit will be a success from the start and will equal loops in other sports in its field.

The opinion was expressed that it would be advisable for the league to open its season the first week in December and continue until the first week in April but the drafting of the schedule was left to the executive committee.

A constitution and by-laws for the new circuit will be drawn up and submitted to the members prior to June 1. These will call for player limit, salary limit and other regulations which members must observe.

Officials made it clear that application now for membership does not necessarily mean membership. Other applications can be received but the favorable action on applications is up to the executive committee.

Organization of this circuit means that East Liverpool next season will be in a basketball loop that will have among its members teams that have the best cage players in the country and these will be seen here. Teams will be permitted to play games with independent teams on dates not conflicting with the league schedule.

Delegates at Saturday's meeting were: Max Rosenblum and I. S. Rose, of the Cleveland Rosenblums; Joseph F. Carr and M. J. O'Rourke, of Columbus; J. S. Morley and Sam Snyder, of Boston; Frank Morganweck, of Baltimore; George Marshall and Garry Schmelk, of Washington, D. C.; A. L. McGurk, of Milwaukee; George Halas and Larry Wainquist, of Chicago; F. D. Allison, of East Liverpool; A. L. Oscar, of Canton; John Brobowski, of Detroit; C. L. Alter, of Ft. Wayne and Jack Nieman, of Rochester.

Further details of organization will be worked out by the executive committee which will meet from time to time and it is the hope of those fathering the organization that everything will be set for the smooth operation of the new sport league by the first of December to the end that basketball fans of the country be given the best there is in the cage game through organized effort.

Tagging The Bases

Chicago White Sox enthusiasm gave the Cleveland Indians another victory, by the empty sounding forfeit score of 9 to 0. The Indians were leading, 7 to 2, when fervid Sox fans infected the playing field in the ninth inning and the umpire called it a day, maintaining it was impossible to continue.

Bentley held the Phillies to six blows and the Giants tightened their grasp on first place in a 4 to 1 victory.

The world champion Senators relapsed into a tie with the Athletics for second place when Paschal's homer gave the Yankees a ninth inning 3 to 2 win.

The Cubs gained a notch on the Reds by bunched blows in the ninth. They scored two runs and won 6 to 5.

Sisler hit safely in his twelfth consecutive game, the Tigers made their defeats five in a row and Browns won 6 to 4.

The Pirates scored four runs in the eighth and another in the ninth to defeat the Cardinals, 6-1.

FIVE BROTHERS

Give Baseball Fans Something to Chew on

By Norman E. Brown.

Ever since the Smith brothers broke into the coughdrop game—

And the Five Brothers began making tobacco, stories of families in a given branch of sport have been written and rewritten.

Baseball has had its share of brothers. The Delehanty boys probably drew the most limelight in their day, partly because of their number. There were four of them. But right now the Grimes boys loom up as the biggest family, if not the most famous.

There are just five members of the Grimes tribe demanding various measures of fame on the diamond.

Topping the list, of course, is the well known Burleigh, one of Brooklyn's pitching aces for the last seven years. Grimes not only ranks as one of the best pitchers in the game, but he is one of its best known holdouts. Grimes includes a holding out session in his spring training program just as other pitchers do a rubber shirt.

By reason of the fact that he is the other member of the family to reside for some time in the big show, brother Ray, who broke in with the Chicago Cubs, comes next in importance. Ray held the first basing job with the Cubs until the deal with the Pirates, which brought Charley Grimm to the club, was negotiated. Then Ray went to Los Angeles. He made his presence felt there by slamming out a homer in one of the early games while cavorting in brilliant fashion at first.

Roy Grimes is playing first base for the Columbus Senators and if his work this season is up to that of the 1924 campaign another year may find him in the big show.

Brother Shirley got his chance in the South Association this year and Kenneth signed with Columbus, according to the dope at hand.

All of which draws considerable attention to the little town of Minerva, O., where these lads learned the fundamentals of the game on the lots. According to record book, however, Burleigh, at least, wasn't born there. His birthplace is given as Clearwater, Wis., which should be included in the booster pamphlets issued by the chamber of commerce of that fair city.

All five of the boys are crack shots and spend their off months potting the birds, clay and real.

Paschal Hits Homer And Yanks Beat Nats

WASHINGTON, April 27.—After four straight victories the Nats went to their third defeat of the season Sunday, New York winning, 3 to 2.

The Yankees tied the score in the seventh and forged into the lead in the final inning, when Paschal, holding down Babe Ruth's position in right field, clouted the ball for a home run into the left field stands.

Glove Rivals Seek Out Training Camps

NEW YORK, April 27.—With clocks turned forward an hour to stretch daylight, and a June balm pervading the air, the call of the great wide open spaces beckons the principals in the big outdoor boxing shows scheduled for the next few weeks.

First to announce the location of their spring training bases were Mike McTigue and Paul Berlenbach, whose fifteen-round frolic will feature the milk fund show at the Yankee Stadium May 29. McTigue goes to work this week at Summit, N. J., and Berlenbach near Southampton, L. I.

The astute Doc Bailey will preside over McTigue's camp and Dan Hickey, late of the New York A. C., will devote all his time to Berlanbach's training.

Jimmy De Forest, handling the Tom Gibbons-Gene Tunney show at the Polo Grounds, has requested both fighters to locate within fifty miles of New York.

Tunney has been persuaded to abandon his old camp at Red Band, N. J., and may seek some quiet spot, convenient to a good golf course, in Westchester county. Gibbons may locate on one of the high peaks in Jersey, possibly near Summit. The St. Paul boxer likes the seashore and Eddie Kane, his manager, likes the hills. Like Tunney, Gibbons wants a good golf course near at hand.

Prices for the three approaching outdoor shows will be fixed by the boxing commission soon. The Berlenbach-McTigue quarrel and the Gibbons-Tunney match probably will be scaled from $2 to $15. The Italian hospital fund show may go to $20 tops on account of the double attraction of the Walker-Greb title match and the heavyweight number featuring Wills and Weinert.

Marquard and Ryan doled out six hits and a whitewash defeat to the Robins, 3 to 0. Marquard was retired in the ninth when the Brave lead was threatened by a mild rally.

Braves are Victors Over Dodgers 3 to 0

BROOKLYN, April 27.—Boston shut out Brooklyn, 3 to 0, in their opening clash of the season here Sunday. Rube Marquard was credited with the victory, although he was taken out in the ninth with two Dodgers on bases and none out. Ryan, who relieved him, retired the next three batters.

Up to the ninth, Marquard pitched one of his best games, holding the hard hitting Dodgers to five scattered hits.

The Scholastics scored in the third on an error and two singles and got their last run in the ninth, when Wildblood walked and Maley singled. The latter went to second when Bennett threw Wildblood out at third after C. Campbell dropped Bloor's fly and Maley came home on Mackall's single.

A Hint for Beginners

The cross-word puzzle diagram is merely a means of concealing words which are synonymous to those listed and which will interlock perfectly and so read equally well crosswise or downwards. Always look for the number of the synonym on the diagram. If horizontal, you must find a word to fit between that number and the first shaded stop to the right; if vertical, you must fit your word between the number and the first shaded stop below.

Detroit Rallies Fall Short; Browns Victors

DETROIT, April 27.—Eighth and ninth-inning rallies fell two short of the needed runs and Detroit lost to St. Louis, 6 to 4, before a crowd of 30,000 persons.

It was the fifth defeat for the Tigers and it was the twelfth game in which George Sicler has hit safely. Bennett's steal of home on Collin's windup in the sixth was a feature.

Tribe Wins Forfeit Clash From Chicago

CHICAGO, April 27.—The opening game between the Chicago White Sox and Cleveland Indians here Sunday was forfeited to the latter, 9 to 0, in the ninth inning, when the visitors were leading, 7 to 2. The largest crowd which ever had witnessed a game in Chicago—close to 44,000—swarmed on the field after two White Sox had been retired in the ninth, and Kamm reached first base on an error by Knode, who failed to touch the bag after receiving J. Sewell's throw.

The umpires and police attempted to clear the field, but were helpless. In the eighth inning the fans started a cushion fight, the grandstand patrons throwing cushions at the overflow crowd, who returned the fusillade. This bombardment continued, and, after Kamm's grounder to short, the crowd broke out on the field and it was impossible to continue.

Sherrod Smith, Cleveland southpaw, pitched a steady game and was aided by sensational support, including four double plays and poor base running on the part of the locals. Cleveland had an easy time piling up runs, bunching hits and driving Hollis Thurston off the mound.

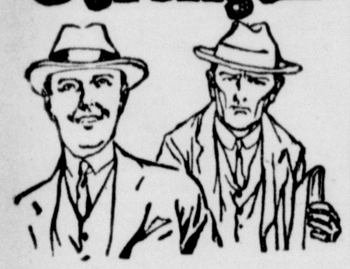
—to regain Strength



—brings joy to you and your friends.

EVERY man, woman and child wants to have strength and correct weight. It means the joy of living. To be minus strength and underweight often proves low fighting-power in the body. It often means you are minus nerve-power, minus red cells in your blood, minus health, minus vitality. It is serious to be minus, but the moment you increase the number of your red-blood-cells, you begin to become plus. That's why S.S.S., since 1826, has meant to thousands of underweight men and women a plus in their strength. Your body fills to the point of power, your flesh becomes firmer, the age lines that come from thinness disappear. You look younger, firmer, happier, and you feel it, too, all over your body.

More red-blood-cells! S.S.S. aids Nature in building them by the million! There are no unproven theories about S.S.S., the scientific results of each of its purely vegetable medicinal ingredients are admitted by authorities. Begin taking S.S.S. today. It will give you more energy, vitality and vigor and a more up and going appearance.

S. S. S. is sold at all good drug stores in two sizes. The larger size is more economical.
